Long Begins Week's Rest In Quiet Spot

Takes Suggestion Of Psychiatrists After His Release

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long, just one busy day out of a mental institution, settled down today to about a week's rest recommended by a team of psychiatrists.

The governor, staying at a tiny country motel, said he would follow the doctors' instructions. "I wouldn't have sent for them if I had intended otherwise," he added.

His words Friday indicated the contrary. He talked of renewing his campaign for re-election. "I thought I would have to make 300 speeches next fall to win, but now I think I can do it with 100 speeches."

A platoon of doctors took over the governor's routine by invitation, banned all contact with the press, all non-essential visitors and all unnecessary activity.

This voluntary medical treatment may slow the 63-year-old governor's progress along a trail of vengeance against Louisiana politicians he feels have done him wrong. No new reprisals were announced.

Long ended 27 days of confinement in two mental hospitals at midmorning Friday.

The governor had the State Hospital Board petition him to dismiss State Hospitals Director Jesse Bankston and Dr. Charles Belcher, acting superintendent of Southeast Louisiana (mental) Hospital at Mandeville. This action removed all opposition to Long's release.

Mrs. Long, Sen. Russell Long (D-La), the governor's nephew, and Dr. Arthur Long all were absent from Friday's proceedings. The three concurred in the decision that resulted in Long's flight to Galveston, Tex., for psychiatric treatment and subsequent 16-day stay at John Sealy Medical Center. Mrs. Long also asked that the governor be committed to Mandeville.

The governor Thursday filed for separation from Mrs. Long, who slipped out of the state for parts unknown Tuesday night.

After getting the hospital board to dismiss Bankston and Belcher, Long fired State Police Supt. John Nick Brown. Long apparently was miffed at Brown and state troopers who took part in whisking him to Mandeville.

Patrol Cites 4 Drivers In As Many Mishaps

But No One Is Hurt In Series Of County Traffic Accidents

No one was injured but four motorists were cited for traffic violations in as many accidents Friday, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Leslie Ferrall, 18, of Glenmoor lost control of his car on Route 434 near Route 170 about 2:15 p. m. and smashed into a bridge. Officers said he swerved to miss hitting a dog. Heavy damage resulted to the car.

John L. Watson, 17, of the Bell School Rd. wrecked his car on Route 435 at 2:45 p. m. about two and a half miles north of East Liverpool. Watson, who was cited to Juvenile Court, lost control on a curve and went into a ditch on the left side of the highway, officers said.

Cars driven by Edward Bokanovitch, 41, of New Middltown and Kenneth R. Workman, 24, of New Waterford collided on Route 7 at Middleton yesterday at 5:20 p. m.

Workman swung wide to the right to make a left turn as Bokanovitch started to pass him on the right. Workman was cited for making an improper right turn while Bokanovitch was arrested for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A car driven by George E. Mercer, 50, of Waterford R. D. 1 hit the rear of another driven by Robert Whitelow, 53, of New Brighton last night at 8:30 on Route 7 at the intersection of Route 14. Mercer was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Cause Hunted In Air Wreck That Kills 68

Lightning Linked To Blast Of U.S. Airliner In Italy

MILAN, Italy (AP) — An armored car regiment and hundreds of police today sealed off a three-mile zone of scattered wreckage that may hold the secret behind the crash of a U.S. airliner in a furious summer thunderstorm. All 68 persons aboard were killed.

Witnesses said they saw lightning strike the four-engine constellation Friday. Aviation experts said it was more likely that the Chicago-bound Trans World Airline plane was shaken to pieces by the violence of the storm.

Some people on the ground said they heard the plane explode in the air. There was also the possibility of mechanical failure as the cause of Italy's worst air disaster.

Italian and American experts began their inquiry today. Investigators came from the U.S. and Italian government air safety agencies and TWA. An Italian district attorney, Salvatore Petrucci, also was sent by the government.

Until the investigation is finished not even the relatives of the victims will be allowed near the tangle of blackened aluminum, all that remained of the plane that plummeted into a field north of here.

The plane had taken off from Malpensa Airport in this big north Italian industrial city just 17 minutes before. It flew north toward the Swiss Alps and into the storm. It was headed for Paris and then a nonstop flight to Chicago's O'Hare Airport.

At least 28 passengers and 6 crew members were American.

Bodies, so badly mangled that identification of most was not immediately possible, were collected at an improvised shelter in the woods.

Bits of the giant Constellation were scattered in a three-mile trail along the ground among the

Kansan Killed In Plane Crash Near Rayland

STEUBENVILLE — A Kansas newspaper publisher was killed instantly Friday afternoon about 2:50 when his light, single - engine airplane crashed in a wooded section about two and a half miles northwest of Rayland.

Daniel R. Anthony IV, 33, co-publisher of the Leavenworth (Kan.) Times, was the victim of the crash during a severe thunderstorm. The plane fell on the farm of Nellie Plinta of Rayland R. D. 2, about four miles southeast of Smithfield.

Ross Goff of Rayland R. D. 1 saw the plane go down over a hill and went to investigate and discovered the wreckage. He notified the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

A Civil Auronatics Administration investigator from Cleveland was to inspect the wreckage today in an attempt to determine what caused the crash. The Civil Air Patrol is standing guard over the wreckage.

The patrol said the plane was demolished and that the wheels and tail section were torn off. The patrol held sections of the plane at the Wintersville barracks which were taken from curiosity seekers who kept picking up pieces.

Goff told authorities he noticed the plane come down low and disappear over a hill. Thinking that the plane was too low for normal flying and noticing that it kept dropping, he went to investigate.

Mr. Anthony was piloting a Model 182, four - place Cessna. He began working for the Times in 1948, filling assignments in both the editorial and business departments. He attended Kansas University.

Candidates Are Selected

Another Step To Statehood Taken As Hawaiians Ballot

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaiians voted on statehood for a last time today and picked candidates for their first state election a month hence.

From all sides come predictions that the islanders will give an overwhelming "yes" to admit the mid-Pacific island chain as the 50th state.

They had done so in two earlier plebiscites and have been pleading for statehood for half a century.

Candidates of Asian descent predominated on the primary list and the first state election July 28 is expected to send at least one Oriental to Congress.

Hawaii will elect two U.S. senators and one representative next month. Five of the eight leading aspirants are of Japanese or Chinese ancestry.

Election officials predicted the combined statehood referendum and party primary would bring out 85 per cent of the nearly 170,000 eligible voters.

For the first time, 20-year-olds will vote and three to four thousand of them are expected to take advantage of the new franchise.

In addition to congressional nominees, voters also picked party candidates for governor and for the 76-seat first State Legislature.

With Republicans running unopposed for major nominations, attention in the primary focused on contests within the Democratic party.

The statehood referendum is one of the last legal steps required before Hawaii can join the union. Congress last March 12 voted statehood for the islands but the bill provided the question of statehood be put before the islanders once more.

Following approval, the new state will hold elections next month and sometime in August President Eisenhower is expected to proclaim statehood for Hawaii.

Gunmen Threaten Store Aides

Compromise Stand Taken On Tax Plan

Bills Hold Prospect Of Cut In Telephone And Ticket Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise tax bill holds prospects of a cut next year in the federal 10 per cent tax on telephone charges and in rail, bus and airplane ticket taxes.

Senate and House conferees Friday approved the compromise bill which continues Korean wartime corporate income and excise tax rates for another year. These taxes drop to pre-Korean levels at midnight Tuesday unless a new law is enacted.

The conferees sent back to the Senate and House a bill which would, in its immediate effect, simply continue taxes without change until June 30, 1960. Then a decision on changing tax rates would again come before Congress.

Conferees abandoned Senate-passed proposals which would have (1) repealed the 4 per cent stock dividend income credit; (2) repealed the entire 10 per cent communications and passenger transportation taxes; and (3) increased federal welfare assistance grants to the states by 142 million dollars a year.

The House bill was limited to continuation of the 52 per cent tax on corporation income and present rates on automobiles, auto parts and accessories, cigarets, liquor, wine and beer.

In compromising their differences, Senate - House conferees proposed cutting in half the passenger transportation tax effective June 30, 1960, provided Congress does not vote to continue the full rate before then.

And they agreed to the repeal of the 10 per cent communications tax as it applies to local phone charges, also effective June 30, 1960. The tax on long distance phone tolls and other communication charges would not be affected.

2 Bound Over For Burglary

$1,000 Bonds Fixed In Store's Entering

Two Klondyke half-brothers were held for the Grand Jury under $1,000 bonds when they entered guilty pleas about 3 p. m. Friday before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw in connection with a burglary early yesterday at a Harvey Ave. market in which $67.25 in change and 3 cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Howard Echols, 31, and Denward Simpson, 19, were arraigned at preliminary hearings after both signed statements admitting the breaking and entering of Martin's Market at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St., operated by Martin Silverman. They reside in an apartment over the store.

The 19-year-old, small of frame and stature, admitted that he crawled through a narrow opening between two metal bars over a rear window of the store after a screen had been cut and a pane of glass had been broken, police said.

The two were taken into custody at 4:58 a. m. Friday when they pulled their auto into a private lane leading to a Beaver Creek cabin owned by Patrolman Paul Carter and Roy Burson, uncle of Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr., they said.

When Roy Burson sought to warn the two against trespassing, he noted the large amount of change spread on the auto's seat, police said. He summoned his nephew, who placed them under arrest. Later, when the store burglary was discovered, the two admitted they were responsible, officers said.

With Regular Bargaining Team

Union Chieftains Agree To Resume Steel Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steelworkers Union agreed today to resume contract negotiations with the industry's regular bargaining team.

David J. McDonald, union president, said, however, "I'm not going to get in another filibuster session," and said he would walk out again if the industry continues to refuse to grant worker contract gains.

McDonald Friday declined further sessions with industry representatives, saying they had been fruitless. He called for direct talks with steel company top executives, but that bid was flatly rejected.

McDonald announced this morning, after a meeting with the union's 33-man executive board, that he would go back into session with the regular industry team, headed by U.S. Steel Corp. Vice President R. Conrad Cooper.

"But I'm not going to sit in another filibuster session," McDonald said. "I'm not interested in their case histories."

The union chief expressed hope that "industry's liaison men have some instructions from their superiors to do some real negotiating."

McDonald said nothing has really happened in eight weeks of talks so far. He said the union has made settlement proposals but the industry has offered no wage or other contract increases.

McDonald has never made public the settlement proposals he has given the industry. The more than 500,000 workers in the basic steel mills averaged $3.10 an hour in April, by latest government calculations.

There are two avenues of speculation as to the reason for the apparent chaotic state of the crucial negotiations.

One is that the industry is really serious about refusing to grant any new labor cost concessions—bolstered by President Eisenhower's call for labor-management moderation.

The second theory is the industry feels it has pushed McDonald and the powerful Steelworkers Union into a corner for the first time in many years and is waiting until the last minute to propose a minimum type contract settlement plan that McDonald would find hard to turn down.

Bolstering the latter theory is the fact that steel inventories, while high in anticipation of a possible strike, are not so great as had been contemplated.

Also, a better third quarter demand for steel than had been expected is now in prospect.

While some steel facilities have begun to close down, industry strike preparations were not expected to get fully under way until Sunday or Monday.

Hoffa Renews His Pledge Of Union Cleanup

Promise, However, Draws A Scornful Retort By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two and a half years after the Senate Labor - Management Committee began investigating him, James R. Hoffa still promises to drive racketeers from office in his Teamsters Union.

Hoffa told the committee Friday he has the power and the authority to do it now, but will not act until the committee ends its investigation.

"I have no hope of your ever cleaning up the union, Mr. Hoffa," Kennedy said.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) has charged repeatedly that Hoffa is so hemmed in by mobster allies that he couldn't clean up the union if he wanted to.

The committee named a long string of union officials with long criminal records who have pleaded the Fifth Amendment as witnesses. Their crimes include extortion, murder and narcotics.

Hoffa said he would attend to them in due course, including Sam Goldstein, president of New York Local 239, who draws his $20,000-a-year union salary and expense account while serving a jail term for extortion.

"When the final chapter is closed in this committee, we will then take up one by one these charges," Hoffa said.

"You said the same thing two and a half years ago," Senator Kennedy replied.

Hoffa acknowledged he has invested $58,636.07 in a Teamster anti-racketeering committee consisting principally of former Sen. George H. Bender of Ohio. He said the Bender committee hasn't turned up even one hoodlum who should be ousted. He said Bender never had mentioned to him the case of Teamster Goldstein drawing pay while in jail.

'Satchmo' Continues To Show Improvement

Satchmo, as millions of fans around the world call him, slept heavily through the night. Shortly after midnight his nurse said his temperature remained normal.

He had many visitors Friday as he sat up in bed, pretended to play the trumpet and hummed "The Sunny Side of the Street."

Heavy Rains Cause Losses To Area Farms

June's rainfall deficiency has been wiped out but Columbiana County farmers are not too happy over the sudden increase in moisture content of the soil.

Damage replaced near drought as two days of heavy rains beat down crops, eroded fields and stalled farming.

The month was short nearly 3 inches of rain when the first storm struck Thursday but 1.33 inches that day and 1.72 more Friday afternoon turned the tables. June's normal precipitation is 4.02 inches, according to Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport.

But the rain gauge now stands at over 5 inches with four more days to go and showers are forecast for the weekend.

Copeland said much cut hay has been spoiled, part of the wheat crop is down and oats also. This damage cannot be readily estimated but the loss through the quick run-off from the concentrated and heavy rains is evident in the gullies and other erosion of tilled fields.

Dam 8 at Newell reported a total of 2.31 inches of rain this week so far as yesterday's storm added 0.86 inch. Monday had 0.23 inch, Tuesday 0.69 and Thursday 0.53.

Yesterday's was the heaviest storm of the week and 0.8 of the rain fell between 5 and 7 p. m. Occasional showers last night added 0.06.

Defense Data Outline Given To Top Brass

Air Offensive And Defensive Leaders In Briefing Session

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — The chiefs of the air offensive and defensive forces give personal and secret estimates to a session of the military high command today on the ability of their units to respond to a Soviet attack.

Coming before the final business session of the annual Defense Secretaries Conference were Gen. Thomas S. Power of the Strategic Air Command and Gen. Earl E. Partridge of the Continental Air Defense Command.

The schedule for them to give briefings and answer questions at the conference was set some time ago. But what they had to say gained new significance in light of a report by the Senate Armed Services Committee since the annual meeting at this Marine base started.

In accepting, with reservations, the Pentagon's "master plan" for air defense, the committee asked whether the missiles and interceptor planes now used or being built would be effective against improving Soviet attack weapons. And committee members also suggested that perhaps the offensive system might constitute the real defensive protection through swift and heavy reaction to attack.

Rain Delays Start

6,000 View Parade Of 70 Units In Wellsville Event

An estimated crowd of 6,000 viewed the Wellsville volunteer firemen's parade Friday evening as over 70 units appeared, including fire equipment, bands, a drum and bugle corps, girl marching units and comics. Rain delayed start of the annual homecoming event.

Children from the Jefferson Children's Home were guests and were given refreshments and seats near the judges stand. This is the 23rd year that children from the home have attended.

Five of the seven prizes up for award were won by Pennsylvania units, one by Salem and one by Hubbard. There were no entries for best senior drum and bugle corps or best girls drum and bugle corps.

Winners and their prizes included Salem American Legion Post 56, best senior band, $50; Boys' Industrial Home of Oakdale, Pa., best junior mixed drum and bugle corps, $35.

White Township, Pa., best appearing fire apparatus; Monaca, best equipped squad truck; a Mt. Oliver fire department car traveled the longest distance, 55 miles, Hubbard volunteer firemen had the best comic entry, a comic car with backfires and smoke, and Freedom had the most uniformed firemen in line. All four will receive $10 each.

VFW Post 9285 of Wellsville, the only drill squad appearing, will receiving a donation from the Wellsville firemen, Jack Phillips, parade chairman, said. All high school bands entering were guaranteed donations, and Sebring's was judged best.

High school bands marching included those of Wellsville, Sebring, United Local and Goshen Union.

Fire and Civil Defense equipment from the Tri-State area appeared. Leading the parade were cars of the Wellsville police, the State Highway Patrol and the Columbiana County sheriff's office. Following were cars with councilmen and Mayor William J. Shoub.

Armed Pair Uses Stolen Car To Flee

Roadblocks Set Up Fail To Trap Thugs; Loot May Be $1,000

A hunt fanned out over the Tri-State area today for two armed bandits who held up the Thorofare Market in East End Friday night and fled with a reported $1,000 loot after eluding some 40 to 50 law officials who set up a network of roadblocks.

Striking near closing time at about 9, the bandits — wearing dark glasses and brandishing pistols — forced two of the market staff to open the safe from which they obtained an undetermined amount of cash.

Police said the two, unshaven and wearing old clothing, made their getaway in a stolen auto which was recovered later in the Smiths Ferry area.

The pair entered the market and threatened Frank Arcuri, assistant manager, and Don Jewell, a clerk, forcing them to open the safe and empty it of its cash.

Unofficial reports indicated that the bandits obtained cash in the neighborhood of $1,000 although Thorofare officials declined to comment on the loss.

Both bandits carried pistols and uttered the standard, "professional" threats.

"Here's a bag; throw the money in it," one said.

"I'm not fooling — I'll blow your head off!"

He then added, "leave the checks alone and open the safe," according to police.

One of the bandits then reached into the safe and removed the cash, police said.

Notified of the robbery, police quickly had all available men on the scene and pursuit was launched but the pair escaped in the relatively heavy traffic through East End.

All police agencies in the tri-state area were alerted and roadblocks were established immediately. Discovery of the abondoned car resulted in the formation of a posse that beat through the rain-dampened woods and roads of the vicinity.

Police described one as between 25 and 30 years of age, 5-foot-10 or 11 and 145 to 150-pounds, of slender build with "dirty brown" hair.

The other was described as 30 to 35, 5-foot-6 or 7 and 175 to 180 pounds.

Both wore dark glasses, police said. The man believed the younger of the two was unshaven, and wore a tan or gray ball cap, slacks, a tan sport shirt and dark glasses with white rims. He was armed with a small blue automatic.

A bloodhound was used in the search last night, but no trace could be found of the pair. No tracks were found along the bank of the Ohio River although police have not discounted the theory that the pair may have had a motorboat waiting them somewhere in the Smiths Ferry area.

Midland police joined in the posse searching for the two men who abandoned their tan car with maroon top on the old Ferry Rd. near Kenny Miller's service station on Route 68 between East Liverpool and Midland.

Two boys near the service station told police of seeing the car. It was found about 100 yards beyond the road underpass toward the river, police said. Nearby was found hats, glasses and bluish plastic bags, apparently used to hold the loot.

A bloodhound obtained from Bob Grimm of near East Palestine was used at the scene of the car and went in circles near Child's Pipe Shop, police said. The pair may have escaped either by another car or by boat, police speculated.

Several roadblocks were thrown

Following approval, the new state will hold elections next month and sometime in August President Eisenhower is expected to proclaim statehood for Hawaii.

Compromise Stand Taken On Tax Plan

Bills Hold Prospect Of Cut In Telephone And Ticket Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise tax bill holds prospects of a cut next year in the federal 10 per cent tax on telephone charges and in rail, bus and airplane ticket taxes.

Senate and House conferees Friday approved the compromise bill which continues Korean wartime corporate income and excise tax rates for another year. These taxes drop to pre-Korean levels at midnight Tuesday unless a new law is enacted.

The conferees sent back to the Senate and House a bill which would, in its immediate effect, simply continue taxes without change until June 30, 1960. Then a decision on changing tax rates would again come before Congress.

Conferees abandoned Senate-passed proposals which would have (1) repealed the 4 per cent stock dividend income credit; (2) repealed the entire 10 per cent communications and passenger transportation taxes; and (3) increased federal welfare assistance grants to the states by 142 million dollars a year.

The House bill was limited to continuation of the 52 per cent tax on corporation income and present rates on automobiles, auto parts and accessories, cigarets, liquor, wine and beer.

In compromising their differences, Senate - House conferees proposed cutting in half the passenger transportation tax effective June 30, 1960, provided Congress does not vote to continue the full rate before then.

And they agreed to the repeal of the 10 per cent communications tax as it applies to local phone charges, also effective June 30, 1960. The tax on long distance phone tolls and other communication charges would not be affected.

2 Bound Over For Burglary

$1,000 Bonds Fixed In Store's Entering

Two Klondyke half-brothers were held for the Grand Jury under $1,000 bonds when they entered guilty pleas about 3 p. m. Friday before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw in connection with a burglary early yesterday at a Harvey Ave. market in which $67.25 in change and 3 cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Howard Echols, 31, and Denward Simpson, 19, were arraigned at preliminary hearings after both signed statements admitting the breaking and entering of Martin's Market at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St., operated by Martin Silverman. They reside in an apartment over the store.

The 19-year-old, small of frame and stature, admitted that he crawled through a narrow opening between two metal bars over a rear window of the store after a screen had been cut and a pane of glass had been broken, police said.

The two were taken into custody at 4:58 a. m. Friday when they pulled their auto into a private lane leading to a Beaver Creek cabin owned by Patrolman Paul Carter and Roy Burson, uncle of Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr., they said.

When Roy Burson sought to warn the two against trespassing, he noted the large amount of change spread on the auto's seat, police said. He summoned his nephew, who placed them under arrest. Later, when the store burglary was discovered, the two admitted they were responsible, officers said.

Gunmen Threaten Store Aides

Search Continues For 2 After Thorofare Holdup

Roadblocks Set Up Fail To Trap Thugs; Loot May Be $1,000

A hunt fanned out over the Tri-State area today for two armed bandits who held up the Thorofare Market in East End Friday night and fled with a reported $1,000 loot after eluding some 40 to 50 law officials who set up a network of roadblocks.

Striking near closing time at about 9, the bandits — wearing dark glasses and brandishing pistols — forced two of the market staff to open the safe from which they obtained an undetermined amount of cash.

Police said the two, unshaven and wearing old clothing, made their getaway in a stolen auto which was recovered later in the Smiths Ferry area.

The pair entered the market and threatened Frank Arcuri, assistant manager, and Don Jewell, a clerk, forcing them to open the safe and empty it of its cash.

Unofficial reports indicated that the bandits obtained cash in the neighborhood of $1,000 although Thorofare officials declined to comment on the loss.

Both bandits carried pistols and uttered the standard, "professional" threats.

"Here's a bag; throw the money in it," one said.

"I'm not fooling — I'll blow your head off!"

He then added, "leave the checks alone and open the safe," according to police.

One of the bandits then reached into the safe and removed the cash, police said.

Notified of the robbery, police quickly had all available men on the scene and pursuit was launched but the pair escaped in the relatively heavy traffic through East End.

All police agencies in the tri-state area were alerted and roadblocks were established immediately. Discovery of the abondoned car resulted in the formation of a posse that beat through the rain-dampened woods and roads of the vicinity.

Police described one as between 25 and 30 years of age, 5-foot-10 or 11 and 145 to 150-pounds, of slender build with "dirty brown" hair.

The other was described as 30 to 35, 5-foot-6 or 7 and 175 to 180 pounds.

Both wore dark glasses, police said. The man believed the younger of the two was unshaven, and wore a tan or gray ball cap, slacks, a tan sport shirt and dark glasses with white rims. He was armed with a small blue automatic.

A bloodhound was used in the search last night, but no trace could be found of the pair. No tracks were found along the bank of the Ohio River although police have not discounted the theory that the pair may have had a motorboat waiting them somewhere in the Smiths Ferry area.

Midland police joined in the posse searching for the two men who abandoned their tan car with maroon top on the old Ferry Rd. near Kenny Miller's service station on Route 68 between East Liverpool and Midland.

Two boys near the service station told police of seeing the car. It was found about 100 yards beyond the road underpass toward the river, police said. Nearby was found hats, glasses and bluish plastic bags, apparently used to hold the loot.

A bloodhound obtained from Bob Grimm of near East Palestine was used at the scene of the car and went in circles near Child's Pipe Shop, police said. The pair may have escaped either by another car or by boat, police speculated.

Several roadblocks were thrown

With Regular Bargaining Team

Union Chieftains Agree To Resume Steel Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steelworkers Union agreed today to resume contract negotiations with the industry's regular bargaining team.

David J. McDonald, union president, said, however, "I'm not going to get in another filibuster session," and said he would walk out again if the industry continues to refuse to grant worker contract gains.

McDonald Friday declined further sessions with industry representatives, saying they had been fruitless. He called for direct talks with steel company top executives, but that bid was flatly rejected.

McDonald announced this morning, after a meeting with the union's 33-man executive board, that he would go back into session with the regular industry team, headed by U.S. Steel Corp. Vice President R. Conrad Cooper.

"But I'm not going to sit in another filibuster session," McDonald said. "I'm not interested in their case histories."

The union chief expressed hope that "industry's liaison men have some instructions from their superiors to do some real negotiating."

McDonald said nothing has really happened in eight weeks of talks so far. He said the union has made settlement proposals but the industry has offered no wage or other contract increases.

McDonald has never made public the settlement proposals he has given the industry. The more than 500,000 workers in the basic steel mills averaged $3.10 an hour in April, by latest government calculations.

There are two avenues of speculation as to the reason for the apparent chaotic state of the crucial negotiations.

One is that the industry is really serious about refusing to grant any new labor cost concessions—bolstered by President Eisenhower's call for labor-management moderation.

The second theory is the industry feels it has pushed McDonald and the powerful Steelworkers Union into a corner for the first time in many years and is waiting until the last minute to propose a minimum type contract settlement plan that McDonald would find hard to turn down.

Bolstering the latter theory is the fact that steel inventories, while high in anticipation of a possible strike, are not so great as had been contemplated.

Also, a better third quarter demand for steel than had been expected is now in prospect.

While some steel facilities have begun to close down, industry strike preparations were not expected to get fully under way until Sunday or Monday.

Hoffa Renews His Pledge Of Union Cleanup

Promise, However, Draws A Scornful Retort By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two and a half years after the Senate Labor - Management Committee began investigating him, James R. Hoffa still promises to drive racketeers from office in his Teamsters Union.

Hoffa told the committee Friday he has the power and the authority to do it now, but will not act until the committee ends its investigation.

"I have no hope of your ever cleaning up the union, Mr. Hoffa," Kennedy said.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) has charged repeatedly that Hoffa is so hemmed in by mobster allies that he couldn't clean up the union if he wanted to.

The committee named a long string of union officials with long criminal records who have pleaded the Fifth Amendment as witnesses. Their crimes include extortion, murder and narcotics.

Hoffa said he would attend to them in due course, including Sam Goldstein, president of New York Local 239, who draws his $20,000-a-year union salary and expense account while serving a jail term for extortion.

"When the final chapter is closed in this committee, we will then take up one by one these charges," Hoffa said.

"You said the same thing two and a half years ago," Senator Kennedy replied.

Hoffa acknowledged he has invested $58,636.07 in a Teamster anti-racketeering committee consisting principally of former Sen. George H. Bender of Ohio. He said the Bender committee hasn't turned up even one hoodlum who should be ousted. He said Bender never had mentioned to him the case of Teamster Goldstein drawing pay while in jail.

'Satchmo' Continues To Show Improvement

Satchmo, as millions of fans around the world call him, slept heavily through the night. Shortly after midnight his nurse said his temperature remained normal.

He had many visitors Friday as he sat up in bed, pretended to play the trumpet and hummed "The Sunny Side of the Street."

Heavy Rains Cause Losses To Area Farms

June's rainfall deficiency has been wiped out but Columbiana County farmers are not too happy over the sudden increase in moisture content of the soil.

Damage replaced near drought as two days of heavy rains beat down crops, eroded fields and stalled farming.

The month was short nearly 3 inches of rain when the first storm struck Thursday but 1.33 inches that day and 1.72 more Friday afternoon turned the tables. June's normal precipitation is 4.02 inches, according to Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport.

But the rain gauge now stands at over 5 inches with four more days to go and showers are forecast for the weekend.

Copeland said much cut hay has been spoiled, part of the wheat crop is down and oats also. This damage cannot be readily estimated but the loss through the quick run-off from the concentrated and heavy rains is evident in the gullies and other erosion of tilled fields.

Dam 8 at Newell reported a total of 2.31 inches of rain this week so far as yesterday's storm added 0.86 inch. Monday had 0.23 inch, Tuesday 0.69 and Thursday 0.53.

Yesterday's was the heaviest storm of the week and 0.8 of the rain fell between 5 and 7 p. m. Occasional showers last night added 0.06.

Defense Data Outline Given To Top Brass

Air Offensive And Defensive Leaders In Briefing Session

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — The chiefs of the air offensive and defensive forces give personal and secret estimates to a session of the military high command today on the ability of their units to respond to a Soviet attack.

Coming before the final business session of the annual Defense Secretaries Conference were Gen. Thomas S. Power of the Strategic Air Command and Gen. Earl E. Partridge of the Continental Air Defense Command.

The schedule for them to give briefings and answer questions at the conference was set some time ago. But what they had to say gained new significance in light of a report by the Senate Armed Services Committee since the annual meeting at this Marine base started.

In accepting, with reservations, the Pentagon's "master plan" for air defense, the committee asked whether the missiles and interceptor planes now used or being built would be effective against improving Soviet attack weapons. And committee members also suggested that perhaps the offensive system might constitute the real defensive protection through swift and heavy reaction to attack.

An estimated crowd of 6,000 viewed the Wellsville volunteer firemen's parade Friday evening as over 70 units appeared, including fire equipment, bands, a drum and bugle corps, girl marching units and comics. Rain delayed start of the annual homecoming event.

Children from the Jefferson Children's Home were guests and were given refreshments and seats near the judges stand. This is the 23rd year that children from the home have attended.

Five of the seven prizes up for award were won by Pennsylvania units, one by Salem and one by Hubbard. There were no entries for best senior drum and bugle corps or best girls drum and bugle corps.

Winners and their prizes included Salem American Legion Post 56, best senior band, $50; Boys' Industrial Home of Oakdale, Pa., best junior mixed drum and bugle corps, $35.

White Township, Pa., best appearing fire apparatus; Monaca, best equipped squad truck; a Mt. Oliver fire department car traveled the longest distance, 55 miles, Hubbard volunteer firemen had the best comic entry, a comic car with backfires and smoke, and Freedom had the most uniformed firemen in line. All four will receive $10 each.

VFW Post 9285 of Wellsville, the only drill squad appearing, will receiving a donation from the Wellsville firemen, Jack Phillips, parade chairman, said. All high school bands entering were guaranteed donations, and Sebring's was judged best.

High school bands marching included those of Wellsville, Sebring, United Local and Goshen Union.

Fire and Civil Defense equipment from the Tri-State area appeared. Leading the parade were cars of the Wellsville police, the State Highway Patrol and the Columbiana County sheriff's office. Following were cars with councilmen and Mayor William J. Shoub.

Officials At Lisbon Discuss Rain Damage

LISBON — Mayor John Todd, councilmen and street committee members, Robert Kelm and John Blockson, Thirl Flugan, street commissioner, and Paul Kuhns, Dean Beck and Russell Shaw of the Board of Public Affairs met Friday night to discuss the situation that followed the worst rainstorm ever to hit Lisbon Thursday.

They received so many complaints on the water situation after the big rain that they toured the town and decided on five projects to try and cope with the situation.

The locations are W. Lincoln Way, Maple St., W. Chestnut St., N. Market St. and Pritchard Ave.

Nothing definite was decided on how to correct the situations on these streets but they will get first preference in attempts to find a solution. Most of these streets have very little gutter because of the accumulation of blacktoppings added in the past years.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

How To Deal With 'Moods'

A young wife consulted me regarding her marriage problem. She told me she was going to leave her husband. She hadn't been married very long, but already it was becoming intolerable to her and she "just couldn't stand it any longer." The atmosphere in which she lived had never been like this and she couldn't take it. So ran her pitiful recital.

Dr. Peale

I listened patiently while she told me all this and then I asked, "But specifically, what is the matter with your husband? Does he drink?"

"Oh, no," she said. "He never touches a drop."

"Well, then," I continued, "does he gamble?"

"Oh, no, no, he doesn't gamble. He never would gamble."

"Maybe he's running around with other women?"

"Does he hit you and swear at you?"

"I should say not! He's as gentle as a lamb."

"For the life of me," I exclaimed, "I don't see what's wrong with him then."

"It's that he doesn't speak to me; he just sits and sulks," she explained.

"How long does he sulk?" I asked.

"Well," I said, "I know hundreds of women who would take on that husband of yours very gladly. You ought to be happy that he isn't drinking, gambling or running around with other women. Your problem is to learn to adjust to those moods of his. I realize even that is difficult and annoying, but, good heavens, woman, you've got to have some problems in marriage. And you're pretty lucky, I'd say."

"But how do I handle this mood problem?" she questioned me.

ONE IMPORTANT fact I pointed out, which is basic to all human relations including marriage, is that you have to take people as they are. And you must love them as they are.

Everyone has some qualities which we would like changed, and maybe we have some they don't like. But you must learn to let people be what they are and like them, bad qualities and all. So if a husband has moods, he has moods, and you've got to love him moods and all.

A moody, sulky husband or wife is a thorn in the flesh. That's for sure. He or she can be very cruel. But balancing faults against faults, the moody mate probably checks out much better than the drunk or philanderer. There's a lot less pain and trouble in it.

Another thing I suggested was that she try to inveigle him into getting counseling. For, you see, moods constitute a sickness of the emotions which therapy can often cure. Maybe the man is infantile and carrying over his childhood "I want my mamma's attention" attitude. There are not a few adult babies who have gotten married but actually they want a mama or papa figure rather than a normal wife or husband.

"But," I said to the young wife, "if this is your husband's trouble, he is a sick man, and a wife does not get mad at a husband who is ill and run away from her responsibility."

THE YOUNG woman had better stuff than she had been demonstrating. She went at her problem intelligently and patiently. It helped her when she gained psychological understanding of the case. The day came when she was able to talk frankly with her husband who confessed to the misery his moods caused him.

They agreed on and carried out a counseling program. Then they decided to "go all out with a spiritual program."

Rain

A few scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers were forecast for today and tomorrow.

The temperature, meanwhile, will continue hot and humid with a high of near 90 due today for the possible peak of the week. Yesterday's high was 87 degrees at 2 p. m. and the overnight low was only 74, where it remained for many hours. Tonight's low will be 68 to 72.

Officials At Lisbon Discuss Rain Damage

LISBON — Mayor John Todd, councilmen and street committee members, Robert Kelm and John Blockson, Thirl Flugan, street commissioner, and Paul Kuhns, Dean Beck and Russell Shaw of the Board of Public Affairs met Friday night to discuss the situation that followed the worst rainstorm ever to hit Lisbon Thursday.

They received so many complaints on the water situation after the big rain that they toured the town and decided on five projects to try and cope with the situation.

The locations are W. Lincoln Way, Maple St., W. Chestnut St., N. Market St. and Pritchard Ave.

Nothing definite was decided on how to correct the situations on these streets but they will get first preference in attempts to find a solution. Most of these streets have very little gutter because of the accumulation of blacktoppings added in the past years.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

How To Deal With 'Moods'

A young wife consulted me regarding her marriage problem. She told me she was going to leave her husband. She hadn't been married very long, but already it was becoming intolerable to her and she "just couldn't stand it any longer." The atmosphere in which she lived had never been like this and she couldn't take it. So ran her pitiful recital.

Dr. Peale

I listened patiently while she told me all this and then I asked, "But specifically, what is the matter with your husband? Does he drink?"

"Oh, no," she said. "He never touches a drop."

"Well, then," I continued, "does he gamble?"

"Oh, no, no, he doesn't gamble. He never would gamble."

"Maybe he's running around with other women?"

"Does he hit you and swear at you?"

"I should say not! He's as gentle as a lamb."

"For the life of me," I exclaimed, "I don't see what's wrong with him then."

"It's that he doesn't speak to me; he just sits and sulks," she explained.

"How long does he sulk?" I asked.

"Well," I said, "I know hundreds of women who would take on that husband of yours very gladly. You ought to be happy that he isn't drinking, gambling or running around with other women. Your problem is to learn to adjust to those moods of his. I realize even that is difficult and annoying, but, good heavens, woman, you've got to have some problems in marriage. And you're pretty lucky, I'd say."

"But how do I handle this mood problem?" she questioned me.

ONE IMPORTANT fact I pointed out, which is basic to all human relations including marriage, is that you have to take people as they are. And you must love them as they are.

Everyone has some qualities which we would like changed, and maybe we have some they don't like. But you must learn to let people be what they are and like them, bad qualities and all. So if a husband has moods, he has moods, and you've got to love him moods and all.

A moody, sulky husband or wife is a thorn in the flesh. That's for sure. He or she can be very cruel. But balancing faults against faults, the moody mate probably checks out much better than the drunk or philanderer. There's a lot less pain and trouble in it.

Another thing I suggested was that she try to inveigle him into getting counseling. For, you see, moods constitute a sickness of the emotions which therapy can often cure. Maybe the man is infantile and carrying over his childhood "I want my mamma's attention" attitude. There are not a few adult babies who have gotten married but actually they want a mama or papa figure rather than a normal wife or husband.

"But," I said to the young wife, "if this is your husband's trouble, he is a sick man, and a wife does not get mad at a husband who is ill and run away from her responsibility."

THE YOUNG woman had better stuff than she had been demonstrating. She went at her problem intelligently and patiently. It helped her when she gained psychological understanding of the case. The day came when she was able to talk frankly with her husband who confessed to the misery his moods caused him.

They agreed on and carried out a counseling program. Then they decided to "go all out with a spiritual program."

Equipment Erected In Field

Radio 'Hams' Join National Tests

"CQ" will crowd the amateur radio bands here and throughout the nation today and Sunday in the annual "Ham Field Day" to test equipment and emergency operating procedures for licensed radio operators.

"CQ"—the call for any other amateur to answer—will be especially plentiful as the largest possible number of contacts is sought by the "hams" — slang term for amateur operator.

Members of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club have set up transmitters and other equipment on a site near the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. about 150 yards south of the old Fisher farm home.

The hilltop is on land of Howard Thompson who resides nearby.

THE MEMBERS of the club, which includes "hams" from the Tri-State area, will transmit and receive messages with other units throughout the nation for a 24-hour period, starting Saturday about 5 p. m.

The field day is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League, a national organization of amateur operators, and this year will be the fourth in which the local club has participated. Two gasoline - powered generators will provide electricity for the radio equipment, since the situation is to be under emergency conditions where regular power would not be available.

The communications truck of the Civil Defense will provide one power supply along with transmitting and receiving facilities. A tent and station wagon will also house equipment and serve as shelter at the site where antennas were erected Friday night.

THE TRIANGLE club was formed in August 1954 by Otto McVey of Boring Ln. and Walter E. (Red) Kell of St. George St. who contacted area amateurs.

McVey, a substation operator at the Crucible Steel Co., had been a radio operator in the Army Transport Service for 20 years, leaving the service after World War II after becoming a communications liaison major in the Pacific. Both McVey and Kell, employed at the Milligan Hardware Co., obtained radio licenses in 1923.

Meetings were first held at McVey's home, but are now held at a Bell Telephone Co. building on Smith St. There are now about 35 active members and the club has become affiliated with the ARRL.

DAN CLARK of Inez Ave. is president of the club, whose chief purpose is to provide an exchange of ideas and help for members. At present plans are being pushed for the eventual purchase of a site for construction of a clubhouse.

The club also conducts free classes for anyone interested in obtaining a temporary novice license, offering courses in code and theory. The first such course was held at the high school in 1957 and another was completed this past spring.

Instruction is also offered at the Smith St. quarters for anyone wishing to obtain the permanent general class operator's license.

Although the courses were designed to aid those interested in radio, the recent instruction was also instituted to provide trained operators for the Civil Defense communications unit.

CHARLES BURKE, club member, is communications officer for the CD unit, which operates a special communications truck designed to provide emergency contact between other CD units and area and local authorities in event of any emergency or enemy attack.

Many amateurs are victims of public misunderstanding about television interference for which they are blamed without cause, club spokesmen said.

Any "ham" will freely admit there are cases in which amateur transmitters will cause interference on neighborhood TV sets, but the amateurs maintain 95 per cent of the TV trouble emanates from other causes—electrical appliances, motors, industrial equipment or other gadgets.

The "hams" are licensed to operate only on certain assigned frequencies, and must use equipment to check their signals so they do not trespass upon the commercial TV channels. The Federal Communications Commission monitors broadcasts to see if there are violations.

WHEN AN amateur's signals do interfere with a television set, the trouble is generally in the set where the manufacturer has failed to install a special filter trap. Almost all manufacturers will provide such a filter, but the practice varies, and a set owner should either consult his serviceman or the neighborhood amateur.

If a set owner is troubled by interference he believes stems from a "ham" station, he should advise the amateur, who generally welcomes the opportunity to work out the problem, or a serviceman. Either can help the set owner determine the cause of the interference and suggest a solution.

The short wave broadcasts of individual amateurs and the cooperative events such as the field day provide an invaluable emergency communications network, and have resulted in innumerable advances in modern electronics, including television, club spokesmen said.

Traffic

Edward Weingartner, 42, of 455 Densmore Ave., was fined for driving left of center. Police said he pulled to the left of the street to park when the mishap occurred yesterday afternoon at 2:30.

Joe Matheny, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Matheny of Fisher Park, a passenger on the motor bicycle, is in "fairly good" condition in City Hospital with multiple brush burns of the body and injuries to the right leg, ankle and knee.

The 1953 model bicycle was driven by William Gotschall, 14, also of Fisher Park, who was traveling east on the street when he saw Weingartner's auto approaching.

Gotschall told police he applied the brakes and skidded into the auto.

Motorist Forfeits After City Accident

A Wellsville motorist forfeited a $31 bond on a charge of reckless operation when he failed to appear for a hearing today in Municipal Court following an accident Friday afternoon on E. 2nd St.

Richard Livolsi, 433 Broadway, was charged with reckless operation by city police when his auto and a panel truck driven by Joe H. Jackson, 37, of 411 Palissey St., were involved in a mishap.

Both vehicles were damaged, police reported.

In another traffic mishap today at 8:45 p. m. cars driven by Robert Ware, 59, of near Salem, and John Smith Nebo, 72, of Lisbon R. D. 3 collided at Summit Ln. intersection.

Police said each driver admitted that they could not see each other. Neither driver was injured.

Wellsville Man Hurt In Crash On Route 7

A Wellsville man was injured when the car in which he was a passenger was involved in a crash on Route 7 about 4 miles north of Steubenville Friday at 7 p. m.

Officers of the Wintersville State Highway Patrol said he refused to be admitted to the hospital.

Arnold was a passenger in a car driven by Wayne Tharp, 24, of Toronto R. D. 2, which collided with another driven by Harry G. Jensen, 31, of Toronto. Tharp made a turn into the path of the Jensen car, officers said. Both care were damaged heavily.

Tharp was cited for unsafe operation and will receive a hearing Friday in Steubenville Municipal Court.

Air Crash

People on the ground said they saw the lightning bolt hit over Castellanza. All reported the plane then turned into a fireball. It continued aloft with its gas tanks exploding, they said, then hit ground near Marante in the shadow of the Alpine resort country.

The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, which dispatched Martyn Clarke, its assistant chief safety engineer, to work with Italian officials, has no record of any airliner blowing up in flight after being hit by lightning.

TWA said the last radio signal heard from the plane was a report that it had climbed to 10,000 feet. But witnesses said they saw the plane flying much lower.

Investigators from the Italian Civil Aviation Administration also planned to talk to the eyewitnesses, none of whom was known to be schooled in aviation.

The victims included Americans, Italians, French, British and several other European nationalities.

Joe Keeps Screaming 'Down With Kaiser'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Isabel Riffe asked her parrot, Joe, if he remembered the late Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany.

"Down with the Kaiser!" screamed Joe.

"He's been doing that since World War I," giggled Mrs. Riffe, herself 94. "His dislike for the Kaiser was picked up around our house during the first war."

She hasn't told him about the Russians. "He's too old to worry about them now," she said. Joe has been with the Riffe's for 60 years.

up in the area in a matter of minutes after the first report went out. All cars were halted and the occupants checked.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol set up a block on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. and remained until midnight. One officer was left to patrol the road for the remainder of the night.

The Columbiana County Sheriff's department set up blocks in Calcutta at the intersection of St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Route 170 and on Pancake Hill on Route 170 near Fredericktown.

The Rochester Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police were alerted about 9:10 p. m. and sent two cars to join in the hunt. Others in the posse included Columbiana County sheriff's deputies, East Liverpool, Midland, Ohio Township, Smiths Ferry and Brighton Township police. The entire southern section of Beaver County near this area was alerted.

Road blocks were set up in Midland, Midland Heights, and at Cow Hollow in Ohio Township by Bernard Zlatovich, police constable.

Among police who hunted all night, Chief E. J. Hineman of Industry, who has about seven miles of Route 68 to patrol, reported nothing new today. He also searched boat docks along the river.

Told that the loss was reported at $1,000, Dave Jenkins, manager, snapped "that's wrong!"

He said he could not reveal the actual loss because the company's insurance firm decided "that if the amount were known, it might encourage other holdups."

Spiders Are Believed To Use Legs As 'Ears'

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Spiders hear with their legs, Cornell University researcher Charles Walcott reports.

While studying the effects of drugs on spiders' reactions, Walcott discovered that the number of nerve impulses in a spider's leg increased when Cornell's chimes rang.

The end of a spider's leg acts as an eardrum, Walcott determined. Each leg has about 10 small slits tuned to different sound frequencies.

Wrong Light Watched, Train Rams Into Car

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Melva E. Cline, 30, looked to the left as she approached a railroad crossing and saw a light far down the tracks.

She thought she had sufficient time to cross and drove on. She was struck by a train coming from her right.

Mrs. Cline, who suffered minor injuries, later learned the light on the left was a warehouse floodlight.

Firm Speeds Business By Toy Train Special

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Robert G. Basbas, manager of a radio service laboratory, was faced with the costly problem of improving his firm's office efficiency. He found an inexpensive solution in his son's toy box.

Basbas considered pneumatic tubes or a cable system too expensive for conveying shipping orders, bills and other inter - office papers between departments.

So he installed a model electric train that runs from the back shop to the front office through stock rooms and the ladies' room, hauling the business of the day.

Equipment Erected In Field

Radio 'Hams' Join National Tests

"CQ" will crowd the amateur radio bands here and throughout the nation today and Sunday in the annual "Ham Field Day" to test equipment and emergency operating procedures for licensed radio operators.

"CQ"—the call for any other amateur to answer—will be especially plentiful as the largest possible number of contacts is sought by the "hams" — slang term for amateur operator.

Members of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club have set up transmitters and other equipment on a site near the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. about 150 yards south of the old Fisher farm home.

The hilltop is on land of Howard Thompson who resides nearby.

THE MEMBERS of the club, which includes "hams" from the Tri-State area, will transmit and receive messages with other units throughout the nation for a 24-hour period, starting Saturday about 5 p. m.

The field day is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League, a national organization of amateur operators, and this year will be the fourth in which the local club has participated. Two gasoline - powered generators will provide electricity for the radio equipment, since the situation is to be under emergency conditions where regular power would not be available.

The communications truck of the Civil Defense will provide one power supply along with transmitting and receiving facilities. A tent and station wagon will also house equipment and serve as shelter at the site where antennas were erected Friday night.

THE TRIANGLE club was formed in August 1954 by Otto McVey of Boring Ln. and Walter E. (Red) Kell of St. George St. who contacted area amateurs.

McVey, a substation operator at the Crucible Steel Co., had been a radio operator in the Army Transport Service for 20 years, leaving the service after World War II after becoming a communications liaison major in the Pacific. Both McVey and Kell, employed at the Milligan Hardware Co., obtained radio licenses in 1923.

Meetings were first held at McVey's home, but are now held at a Bell Telephone Co. building on Smith St. There are now about 35 active members and the club has become affiliated with the ARRL.

DAN CLARK of Inez Ave. is president of the club, whose chief purpose is to provide an exchange of ideas and help for members. At present plans are being pushed for the eventual purchase of a site for construction of a clubhouse.

The club also conducts free classes for anyone interested in obtaining a temporary novice license, offering courses in code and theory. The first such course was held at the high school in 1957 and another was completed this past spring.

Instruction is also offered at the Smith St. quarters for anyone wishing to obtain the permanent general class operator's license.

Although the courses were designed to aid those interested in radio, the recent instruction was also instituted to provide trained operators for the Civil Defense communications unit.

CHARLES BURKE, club member, is communications officer for the CD unit, which operates a special communications truck designed to provide emergency contact between other CD units and area and local authorities in event of any emergency or enemy attack.

Many amateurs are victims of public misunderstanding about television interference for which they are blamed without cause, club spokesmen said.

Any "ham" will freely admit there are cases in which amateur transmitters will cause interference on neighborhood TV sets, but the amateurs maintain 95 per cent of the TV trouble emanates from other causes—electrical appliances, motors, industrial equipment or other gadgets.

The "hams" are licensed to operate only on certain assigned frequencies, and must use equipment to check their signals so they do not trespass upon the commercial TV channels. The Federal Communications Commission monitors broadcasts to see if there are violations.

WHEN AN amateur's signals do interfere with a television set, the trouble is generally in the set where the manufacturer has failed to install a special filter trap. Almost all manufacturers will provide such a filter, but the practice varies, and a set owner should either consult his serviceman or the neighborhood amateur.

If a set owner is troubled by interference he believes stems from a "ham" station, he should advise the amateur, who generally welcomes the opportunity to work out the problem, or a serviceman. Either can help the set owner determine the cause of the interference and suggest a solution.

The short wave broadcasts of individual amateurs and the cooperative events such as the field day provide an invaluable emergency communications network, and have resulted in innumerable advances in modern electronics, including television, club spokesmen said.

Traffic

Edward Weingartner, 42, of 455 Densmore Ave., was fined for driving left of center. Police said he pulled to the left of the street to park when the mishap occurred yesterday afternoon at 2:30.

Joe Matheny, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Matheny of Fisher Park, a passenger on the motor bicycle, is in "fairly good" condition in City Hospital with multiple brush burns of the body and injuries to the right leg, ankle and knee.

The 1953 model bicycle was driven by William Gotschall, 14, also of Fisher Park, who was traveling east on the street when he saw Weingartner's auto approaching.

Gotschall told police he applied the brakes and skidded into the auto.

Motorist Forfeits After City Accident

A Wellsville motorist forfeited a $31 bond on a charge of reckless operation when he failed to appear for a hearing today in Municipal Court following an accident Friday afternoon on E. 2nd St.

Richard Livolsi, 433 Broadway, was charged with reckless operation by city police when his auto and a panel truck driven by Joe H. Jackson, 37, of 411 Palissey St., were involved in a mishap.

Both vehicles were damaged, police reported.

In another traffic mishap today at 8:45 p. m. cars driven by Robert Ware, 59, of near Salem, and John Smith Nebo, 72, of Lisbon R. D. 3 collided at Summit Ln. intersection.

Police said each driver admitted that they could not see each other. Neither driver was injured.

Wellsville Man Hurt In Crash On Route 7

A Wellsville man was injured when the car in which he was a passenger was involved in a crash on Route 7 about 4 miles north of Steubenville Friday at 7 p. m.

Officers of the Wintersville State Highway Patrol said he refused to be admitted to the hospital.

Arnold was a passenger in a car driven by Wayne Tharp, 24, of Toronto R. D. 2, which collided with another driven by Harry G. Jensen, 31, of Toronto. Tharp made a turn into the path of the Jensen car, officers said. Both care were damaged heavily.

Tharp was cited for unsafe operation and will receive a hearing Friday in Steubenville Municipal Court.

crowded villages north of Milan.

People on the ground said they saw the lightning bolt hit over Castellanza. All reported the plane then turned into a fireball. It continued aloft with its gas tanks exploding, they said, then hit ground near Marante in the shadow of the Alpine resort country.

The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, which dispatched Martyn Clarke, its assistant chief safety engineer, to work with Italian officials, has no record of any airliner blowing up in flight after being hit by lightning.

TWA said the last radio signal heard from the plane was a report that it had climbed to 10,000 feet. But witnesses said they saw the plane flying much lower.

Investigators from the Italian Civil Aviation Administration also planned to talk to the eyewitnesses, none of whom was known to be schooled in aviation.

The victims included Americans, Italians, French, British and several other European nationalities.

One of the dead was Maria Sacchetti Fermi, a Rome teacher identified as the sister of the late Enrico Fermi, Italian physicist who helped develop the atomic bomb. Fermi died of cancer in Chicago five years ago.

60 To Attend Dinner For Hancock Firemen

About 60 are expected at a banquet tonight at 8 in New Cumberland as a climax of a fire school held this week by the Hancock County United Fire Fighters' Association.

Guests expected to attend are Mayors Albert Fuccy of New Cumberland and Burton Ward of Chester, and Sheriff Clayton Hobbs, in addition to Charles Bryan, fire chief of East Liverpool.

Carl Durham of Newell was chief instructor for the school in which some 70 were enrolled.

Joe Keeps Screaming 'Down With Kaiser'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Isabel Riffe asked her parrot, Joe, if he remembered the late Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany.

"Down with the Kaiser!" screamed Joe.

"He's been doing that since World War I," giggled Mrs. Riffe, herself 94. "His dislike for the Kaiser was picked up around our house during the first war."

She hasn't told him about the Russians. "He's too old to worry about them now," she said. Joe has been with the Riffe's for 60 years.

Prodigals At The End Of The Line

It all began in the now remote days of the first New Deal when public spenders stole the clothes of the American liberals.

That is where the fallacy came from that liberalism in the United States has something to do with treasury-raiding. Under the New Dealers, it had everything to do with treasury-raiding. But it was called liberalism.

Inspired by the womb-to-tomb credo of British socialists and the conscience-easing theory that public debt was something that could be made to disappear by sleight-of-hand accountancy, the American spenders picked up speed as they shoveled out the money.

It seemed preposterous at first that people should expect the government to support them, because it always had been the other way around, except for the widows of a handful of Revolutionary and Civil War veterans. But gradually the idea caught on, thanks to various flavors of sugar-coating. Sometimes it was called a subsidy, sometimes a grant-in-aid, sometimes pump-priming. Or perhaps a matching fund. And eventually everybody got used to the idea that liberals believed in being liberal with other people's money and conservatives and moderates believed in being just as careful with other people's money as they were with their own money.

THUS BEGAN the betrayal of true liberalism in the United States, which was a doctrine for the preservation of human liberty, against all threats from authoritarianism, including the threat of over-centralized government.

This caused deep concern in the early stages of the betrayal. It was pointed out repeatedly that liberals were too important in the American scheme of things to be whipsawed by fakers whose only contribution to government had been the discovery that people could be made to corrupt themselves with their own money.

It was pointed out, too, that the fake liberals were marching up a blind alley; that when the money ran out they'd have no way to back out because they were all expediency and no philosophy. But like many predictions that are slow to materialize, this one was forgotten.

It is being remembered now belatedly, because of a circumstance that has been given less attention than it deserved.

WHEN THE National Committee for an Effective Congress, a free-spending outfit that puts pressure on congressmen for larger appropriations, blasted the Democratic leadership a few days ago, it charged the leadership with being the prisoner of the "spending issue."

It meant to say that the Democratic majority in Congress, having collided with the Eisenhower administration's balanced-budget policy and come off second best, had lost its momentum.

It meant to say that bogus liberals who maintained their reputation by being in favor of spending other people's money had no alternative to offer the people when spending ceased to be popular as such.

SPENDING is no longer regarded by the American people as a political program, or as a substitute for a political program. It is no more or less than a form of financial prodigality, with no fatted calf to come to on election day.

The prediction that bogus liberals who believed in nothing but spending other people's money would come to the end of their blind alley is now being borne out by the free spenders' legislative plight. Spending was the only program they had. Without spending, they are what their critics have said they are—"prisoners of the spending issue."

The Spendocrats are washed up in politics.

Perhaps Louisiana Should Be Examined

Events in Louisiana are coming so thick and fast that hourly bulletins are required to follow the goings and comings of Gov. Earl Long.

But whether the governor is in or out of a mental hospital at any given moment, one thing about Louisiana has been fixed and immutable since the era of Huey P. Long, whose sanity never was held in question.

The Longs aim to dominate Louisiana politics, and Louisianans aim to keep them in power. Since 1928, when Huey was elected governor and picked up momentum in a flamboyant career that threatened to leave a permanent dent in the form of representative democracy in the United States, the Longs have been running things their own way.

Earl Long, Huey's brother, ran for lieutenant governor in 1936. In 1939, he took over as governor when Richard Leche was forced to resign in the wake of scandal. He was defeated for governor in the following year and lost a race for lieutenant governor four years later, but in 1948 he made the grade and was re-elected in 1956.

The tension over his mental condition—not only his but that of the Louisiana politicians and the Long family—comes from uncertainty about his ability to run again next December. If he cannot run, his nephew Russell, who represents the family and Louisiana in Washington as a U.S. senator, is expected to run. He is the state's junior senator. Its senior senator, Allen Ellender, is an enthusiastic member of the Long machine.

What hold does this enterprising family and its political machine have that fascinates Louisiana voters? The answer eludes those who try to find it, perhaps because they look for it in logic when it is to be found in emotion. They find it there because their politics is the essence of emotion.

They do not care about the scandals, the jail-birds, the strong-arming and the rough-housing. They care about the Longs. The possibility that the Longs might be irrational sometimes does not upset them, because the Longs always have been irrational even when they were rational.

On Your Way To An Accident

From now until the dead have been buried and the maimed hospitalized after the Fourth of July weekend, hundreds of thousands of words will be written and spoken about the importance of being careful, especially in automobiles.

They will have little, if any, effect. Though it can be argued that safety campaigns keep down the accident rate over the long pull, it cannot be proved they have short-range effect on holiday weekends in summertime. People will be killed and maimed next weekend in predictable numbers on the highways, in accidents on water and in all other areas of special hazard.

The chief problem is the auto hazard, because it threatens more people than any other single hazard.

A study of its own insurees by the Travelers Insurance Companies has disclosed some significant evidence about highway accidents. The study covered what happened to a million and a half insurees during last year's Fourth of July weekend and subsequently during the 1958 Labor Day weekend.

Your chances of killing yourself this year are frighteningly good if you are under 30.

In all probability, death will claim you — if you let it — when you are in a car traveling at high speed that hits another car in a rear-end collision.

The tragedy probably will occur on a safe road. It probably will occur before you are vary far from home. The blame will be on a human fault, such as racing through a stop-sign, failing to obey a traffic light, going too fast, not paying attention to what is going on, or showing off to make a big impression.

Chances are it will not occur on a turnpike, because turnpikes minimize accidents. Though the study does not say why, there is a growing body of expert opinion that says turnpikes are safer because all traffic tends to move at approximately the same speed. When accidents do happen on turnpikes, they frequently are the result of rear-end collisions when a vehicle slows down unexpectedly.

The accident you are on your way to next weekend will be your fault if you get there. The way to avert it is to be on guard--to be a defensive driver and be among the living and the unmaimed on July 6, 1959.

Montreal: Ella Carver, 70 years old who has been diving in flames from a 90-foot tower into a shallow tank for 59 years, announced today she was thinking of retiring next year.—News item.

It's a wise decision. In that kind of a life a woman escapes the dangers of staying on the ground in traffic. We have knocked off a letter to Mrs. Carver, hoping she receives it when not midway between the tower and the tank:

Dear Mrs. Carver: When a lady has been doing a Steve Brody into a tank for 59 years she can certainly be excused for slowing down. It can get monotonous, we suppose, after the first quarter century. And when you're 70, you overheat badly when in flames. Still a game gal like you will miss living dangerously and I can cite the case of my Grandma Toopsey who was still a daredevil at 8;. (She used to give two shows a day at carnivals, first being fired from a cannon and then sliding down a tightwire on her head while holding a gasoline can in one hand and a torch in the other.)

SHE GOT WEARY of this when she was about your age and switched to skin diving in shark infested waters. She ran up a string of 45 victories over man-eating sharks and never lost a fight. Her only bad break was in a fight with a giant octopus. (The papers gave it to the octopus but grandma always insisted it was a draw.)

On her 80th birthday she established a new ski jump record for grandmothers taking off with a ski on only one foot. Her big specialty was jumping back blindfolded and with a cannon cracker in her mouth.

I never saw such a grandmother and I am sure you would like to meet her. I would arrange it but she is now down in Washington trying to convince the scientists that she can make the first flight to the moon in a bikini bathing suit flying in a boxkite full of high explosives.

Funny thing about Grandma Toopsey: when she wants to relax she takes a weekend going over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

"Lord, thou deliverdest unto me five talents: behold, I have gained beside them five talents more. His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant."
Matt. 25 20-1

That was the parable which the minister of the Methodist-operated Community Center at Los Angeles repeated as he pressed a half dollar into the hand of Nicolosa DonLucas, who worked there as a janitress.

Days later, Nicolosa handed the minister $17.50. With the 50 cents she had bought cheese and tortillas, made enchiladas and sold them for $35; she was returning to the Center half her gain.

Months passed and Nicolosa, with $100 in her savings account, remembered the poor in her native Mexico. From her brother she obtained the names of 33 orphans in San Luis, and 33 in another town. Also of 33 old people who hadn't enough to eat. "Thirty-three was the number of years Christ lived," she explained, "and I want to say happy birthday to the Baby Jesus."

So it was that last Christmas 66 orphans, 33 elderly persons and four convicts in Mexico received Christmas gifts from a charwoman in the United States. None knew whom to thank for Nicolosa had not given her name. "Thank Jesus," she said.

Strauss Boomed For Vice President

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Top strategist of the group is a man who has directed several crucial drives for the Republican party. He is in the GOP echelon closest to President Eisenhower.

He is a sophisticated political analyst. He is well aware that this would be the first serious attempt to place a man of the Jewish faith on a national ticket.

Yet there is no irresponsible adventure in this drive. It is a dedicated effort to couple Adm. Strauss with Richard Nixon as the Republican National ticket next year. There is nothing speculative about this report. It is a serious move by serious men

THERE IS documentary evidence of this campaign. I have been told in some detail of the letters which were mailed in the past few days to prominent policy makers inside the party. These were followed by scores of telephone calls. The reports indicate that Vice President Nixon is aware of the drive and has done nothing to discourage the burgeoning boom.

There are authentic reports that President Eisenhower has been told of the move by a group of men indignant over the rejection of the admiral by the U.S. Senate.

It is known by Mr. Strauss' supporters that Mr. Eisenhower is personally eager for some national move which would give his good friend and aide some world-wide recognition with the impact of a rocket thrust.

With the implied assurance that neither the President nor the vice president—as nominal leaders of their party—want the Strauss boom to die aborning, its strategists now are essaying their political strength.

SHOULD THE POLL show them that such a campaign will roll, they'll make it public with all the skill and public relations talent for which the campaign's initiator is famed in political circles. Nether he nor his colleagues have actually consulted with Mr. Strauss on strategy. They have told him what they're doing on their own.

They believe this is the moment most propitious to launch such a drive for such a personality who is a member of one of the minority religious faiths in the land. They believe the time has come when only a handful will fight them on the basis of Mr. Strauss' faith. They point to the certainty that candidates of another minority faith will be on the national tickets from now on.

In Republican ranks the leading contender of a non-Protestant faith is Secretary of Labor James Mitchell. He is, of course, a Catholic.

Mr. Strauss' promoters respect Mr. Mitchell, though most of them disagree with him politically. They believe his policies have paralleled labor too frequently. Secretary Mitchell argues strenuously and well that he has been objective and that the labor reform law he has championed was drawn up for the interest of all.

HOWEVER, it is understood that those who prepare to boom Mr. Strauss are not interested in battling anyone. They are devoted to the thought that the outgoing secretary of commerce is one of the nation's most hard-hitting organizers. They believe that he deserves the nomination on his talents and that a man's faith no longer should be an asset or a liability or even a discussion piece in politics.

There is at least one powerful labor force on Mr. Strauss' side—John L. Lewis and his miners. Thus not all the backing is from political or industrial sources.

Whatever happens, this boom will push American politics one giant progressive step forward, Mr. Strauss' supporters believe. Most likely, it will have the indirect effect of booming Jim Mitchell, who will take the nomination if he can get it.

Obviously Mr. Strauss' chances are not good. But the discussion the drive will stir will ease the way for the nomination of a non-Protestant as running mate for the presidential candidate.

That Senate debate over Mr. Strauss appears to have made more history than it seemed at first.

Active Volcanoes

Nicaragua, largest of the six Central American republics, is notable for active volcanoes and a huge lake inhabited by unique fresh-water sharks.

Most of the country's 1,331,000 people live in the steamy Pacific coastal plain dominated by a string of some two dozen volcanoes and Lago de Nicaragua.

The most famous volcano, Momotombo, smokes almost constantly. A picture of it on a postage stamp helped tip the balance against Nicaragua as the route for a trans-isthmian canal. Supporters of the Panama route cited the stamp to back their argument that Nicaragua was more subject to earthquakes and volcanic action than Panama.

Lago de Nicaragua, an oval 100 miles long and 45 miles wide, was the key to the proposed Nicaraguan canal. Shipping would have gone from the Caribbean Sea up the San Juan River to the lake. From there, only a short canal would have been needed to reach the Pacific Ocean.

Geologists believe the lake was a bay of the ocean until an earthquake pushed it 105 feet above sea level and locked out the ocean. The sharks adapted themselves as the fresh water gradually replaced the salt. Managua, the capital, is located on a large lake of the same name near Lago de Nicaragua.

The San Juan river basin has offered a convenient east-west transport route since the days of the Spanish conquest and was followed by many Forty-Niners bound for the California gold fields.

Crimes And Penalties

Traitor Klaus Fuchs Released From Prison

Klaus Fuchs betrayed the country of which he was a citizen — Great Britain — but after only 9 years in prison, he goes free and travels back to the Communist world to which he previously gave the secrets of the atom bomb.

Four young white boys convicted of rape were given sentences of life imprisonment in Florida but such offenders often are paroled after 10 years in jail.

Charles Starkweather, a teenager who went mad and killed 11 persons, was electrocuted on Thursday in Nebraska.

Does the punishment fit the crime?

In Britain for a long time they have had an agitation against capital punishment, and in March, 1958, the British Parliament by law eliminated capital punishment for many types of murders and prescribed the death penalty only in certain cases such as when a prison guard or policeman is murdered, or during a theft, or as a result of a deliberate shooting.

THE BIBLICAL command "Thou shall not kill" has, of course, been the main basis for the crusade against capital punishment. There has arisen in recent years a widespread belief that individual cases may differ and that a mandatory execution is in itself wrong because it deprives juries and judges of discretion. For in many instances the defendant is temporarily insane and, after a certain period of treatment, could be rehabilitated and restored to society as a repentant and useful person.

Passion runs high at the time of a crime and this has occasionally led to lynchings. The fear of the people that technicalities would obstruct justice has often provoked a mob to take the law into its own hands.

The recent rape cases have had a lot of publicity in different sections of the country. Many letters received by this correspondent point out that in some Northern cities the news of rapings by Negroes on whites has been suppressed or given no prominence. Conversely, in Southern areas there have been instances in which whites have been spared the death sentence for rape, whereas Negroes have suffered the extreme penalty.

It is being questioned whether, judged by purely legal standards, and the history of capital punishment, rape in itself where no death is involved, deserves the extreme penalty. Sometimes execution is a merciful act. A long prison sentence can be a torture that many convicts would prefer to see ended by death.

The advance in psychiatric research has certainly been responsible for the belief that many criminals can be rehabilitated. The punishment which lasts the longest is that which troubles the conscience. Even those who are paroled after a few years in prison find it hard to meet the cold glances of their fellow citizens, who never forget the crime.

TREASON, to be sure, is punishable by death or imprisonment, and the United States has not failed to execute traitors where the evidence was conclusive. The Rosenbergs, for instance, who helped convey secrets to Klaus Fuchs, were tried and executed, though there was a last-minute attempt to get them a reprieve. The Communists in America organized a movement to try to save the Rosenbergs and this in itself convinced all people of their guilt.

Klaus Fuchs betrayed America as well as Britain. For he gathered his information while in this country. British officials made a grave blunder when they cleared him for entrance to American laboratories.

If anyone deserved to be electrocuted, it was Klaus Fuchs. For he imperiled the safety of millions of persons in the West. The British now have let him go behind the iron curtain, where he is free to use his scientific mind to assist the Communists still more. One wonders why the British could not have found some grounds for detaining Fuchs in England. But in an era when capital punishment itself is being inflicted in fewer and fewer cases, perhaps treason is considered a minor offense.

Personal Judgment

By Truman Twill

One day soon, I think, we're going to have to face up to something we've been dodging.

When the host of the Apalachin convention of men believed to be the core of a Mafi-type organization was being interred the other day, his daughter screamed at newspapermen that they had killed her daddy. What killed her daddy was a heart attack worsened by rough publicity about him and his friends who live under a code that seems reasonable to them but makes no sense in the United States.

One of the creepier hoodlum types brought to light by congressional investigation of the Teamsters Union, John Diogaurdia, has been successful in his appeal from a court ruling that sent him to prison on conviction for conspiracy and extortion. Three judges found enough legal loopholes to let Dio and another one like him, John J. McNamara, go free. The fourth judge said flatly the jury that convicted them was right.

In one of television's most significant efforts at reporting without distracting commercials, the Columbia Broadcasting System has shown how James R. Hoffa has established himself as undisputed leader of the world's biggest union, the Teamsters, by making the end justify the means. His loyal supporters in the union say they do not care how he gets his results as long as he and his associates get them. That is why they are kept in power—to get results.

In every legislative body, decisions are being made day in and day out that are motivated wholly by the kind of politics in which the end justifies the means. Public officeholders are swapping votes and favors and salving their consciences by saying they are doing it all for their ever-loving constituents, but in fact they are doing it for their ever-loving selves. It ruined France, and it can ruin us.

In every instance enumerated there has been some form of weird hocus-pocus that has enabled the soft-headed and hard-hearted among us to shrug their shoulders and they say the law is the law and none of these people ever was convicted for anything wrong; that it's the way things are.

It's the way things were for a long time when paid agents of the Communist conspiracy were busier than bees and thicker than thieves in this country and no one could lay a finger on them.

To this day, these people share with many others a kind of special immunity bestowed on them by the sanction of a shadowy legality. But personal judgment finally turned against them.

No one else can strong-arm a citizen of the United States and get away with it. But if you have the right connections and the right sanctions in the right places no one can touch you.

No ordinary taxpayer can play hide-and-seek with the Internal Revenue Service and the U.S. Treasury. But if you are one of the extraordinary taxpayers accustomed to scurrying in the shadows of tenuous legality you can have a ball playing games with tax collectors.

No lone individual can get up and slander and revile the government and all constituted authority without having the FBI looking down his throat. But if a fellow who hates everything the rest of us love and cherish does it under the auspices of something that has wormed its way into legality he can look down the FBI's throat and laugh himself sick.

What we've been dodging because we do not want to admit its implications is that we have become so obsessed with the importance of a government of law that we are failing to discriminate against imposters who worm their way into tenous legality by the benefit of a doubt.

There's no law that says personal judgment is not still in effect. Is there?

TV Drummers

Many birds have come to regard cities as wonderful clusters of caves, cliffs and convenient aids to living.

The woodpecker is one. This bird with the built-in pneumatic drill has discovered the television antenna. As an instrument for the woodpecker's early-morning concerts, the metal antenna hardly can be surpassed by the most resounding tree.

The woodpecker, incidentally, is not hunting for grubs. He seeks a lady - love. Explained naturalist John Burroughs: "Among all the woodpeckers the drum plays an important part in the matchmaking. The male takes up his stand on a dry, resonant limb or the ridgeboard of a building, and beats the loudest call he is capable of."

As the birds of a species tend to pick up habits from each other, more and more TV owners probably will awaken in spring to the staccato of a woodpecker's ardent rapping. Reports of TV drumming have come from such widely-scattered cities as Rye, New York; Washington, D.C.; Cleveland, Ohio; and Pittsfield, Illinois.

Prodigals At The End Of The Line

It all began in the now remote days of the first New Deal when public spenders stole the clothes of the American liberals.

That is where the fallacy came from that liberalism in the United States has something to do with treasury-raiding. Under the New Dealers, it had everything to do with treasury-raiding. But it was called liberalism.

Inspired by the womb-to-tomb credo of British socialists and the conscience-easing theory that public debt was something that could be made to disappear by sleight-of-hand accountancy, the American spenders picked up speed as they shoveled out the money.

It seemed preposterous at first that people should expect the government to support them, because it always had been the other way around, except for the widows of a handful of Revolutionary and Civil War veterans. But gradually the idea caught on, thanks to various flavors of sugar-coating. Sometimes it was called a subsidy, sometimes a grant-in-aid, sometimes pump-priming. Or perhaps a matching fund. And eventually everybody got used to the idea that liberals believed in being liberal with other people's money and conservatives and moderates believed in being just as careful with other people's money as they were with their own money.

THUS BEGAN the betrayal of true liberalism in the United States, which was a doctrine for the preservation of human liberty, against all threats from authoritarianism, including the threat of over-centralized government.

This caused deep concern in the early stages of the betrayal. It was pointed out repeatedly that liberals were too important in the American scheme of things to be whipsawed by fakers whose only contribution to government had been the discovery that people could be made to corrupt themselves with their own money.

It was pointed out, too, that the fake liberals were marching up a blind alley; that when the money ran out they'd have no way to back out because they were all expediency and no philosophy. But like many predictions that are slow to materialize, this one was forgotten.

It is being remembered now belatedly, because of a circumstance that has been given less attention than it deserved.

WHEN THE National Committee for an Effective Congress, a free-spending outfit that puts pressure on congressmen for larger appropriations, blasted the Democratic leadership a few days ago, it charged the leadership with being the prisoner of the "spending issue."

It meant to say that the Democratic majority in Congress, having collided with the Eisenhower administration's balanced-budget policy and come off second best, had lost its momentum.

It meant to say that bogus liberals who maintained their reputation by being in favor of spending other people's money had no alternative to offer the people when spending ceased to be popular as such.

SPENDING is no longer regarded by the American people as a political program, or as a substitute for a political program. It is no more or less than a form of financial prodigality, with no fatted calf to come to on election day.

The prediction that bogus liberals who believed in nothing but spending other people's money would come to the end of their blind alley is now being borne out by the free spenders' legislative plight. Spending was the only program they had. Without spending, they are what their critics have said they are—"prisoners of the spending issue."

The Spendocrats are washed up in politics.

Perhaps Louisiana Should Be Examined

Events in Louisiana are coming so thick and fast that hourly bulletins are required to follow the goings and comings of Gov. Earl Long.

But whether the governor is in or out of a mental hospital at any given moment, one thing about Louisiana has been fixed and immutable since the era of Huey P. Long, whose sanity never was held in question.

The Longs aim to dominate Louisiana politics, and Louisianans aim to keep them in power. Since 1928, when Huey was elected governor and picked up momentum in a flamboyant career that threatened to leave a permanent dent in the form of representative democracy in the United States, the Longs have been running things their own way.

If he cannot run, his nephew Russell, who represents the family and Louisiana in Washington as a U.S. senator, is expected to run. He is the state's junior senator. Its senior senator, Allen Ellender, is an enthusiastic member of the Long machine.

Yet there is no irresponsible adventure in this drive. It is a dedicated effort to couple Adm. Strauss with Richard Nixon as the Republican National ticket next year. There is nothing speculative about this report. It is a serious move by serious men

THERE IS documentary evidence of this campaign. I have been told in some detail of the letters which were mailed in the past few days to prominent policy makers inside the party. These were followed by scores of telephone calls. The reports indicate that Vice President Nixon is aware of the drive and has done nothing to discourage the burgeoning boom.

There are authentic reports that President Eisenhower has been told of the move by a group of men indignant over the rejection of the admiral by the U.S. Senate.

It is known by Mr. Strauss' supporters that Mr. Eisenhower is personally eager for some national move which would give his good friend and aide some world-wide recognition with the impact of a rocket thrust.

With the implied assurance that neither the President nor the vice president—as nominal leaders of their party—want the Strauss boom to die aborning, its strategists now are essaying their political strength.

SHOULD THE POLL show them that such a campaign will roll, they'll make it public with all the skill and public relations talent for which the campaign's initiator is famed in political circles. Nether he nor his colleagues have actually consulted with Mr. Strauss on strategy. They have told him what they're doing on their own.

They believe this is the moment most propitious to launch such a drive for such a personality who is a member of one of the minority religious faiths in the land. They believe the time has come when only a handful will fight them on the basis of Mr. Strauss' faith. They point to the certainty that candidates of another minority faith will be on the national tickets from now on.

In Republican ranks the leading contender of a non-Protestant faith is Secretary of Labor James Mitchell. He is, of course, a Catholic.

Mr. Strauss' promoters respect Mr. Mitchell, though most of them disagree with him politically. They believe his policies have paralleled labor too frequently. Secretary Mitchell argues strenuously and well that he has been objective and that the labor reform law he has championed was drawn up for the interest of all.

HOWEVER, it is understood that those who prepare to boom Mr. Strauss are not interested in battling anyone. They are devoted to the thought that the outgoing secretary of commerce is one of the nation's most hard-hitting organizers. They believe that he deserves the nomination on his talents and that a man's faith no longer should be an asset or a liability or even a discussion piece in politics.

There is at least one powerful labor force on Mr. Strauss' side—John L. Lewis and his miners. Thus not all the backing is from political or industrial sources.

Whatever happens, this boom will push American politics one giant progressive step forward, Mr. Strauss' supporters believe. Most likely, it will have the indirect effect of booming Jim Mitchell, who will take the nomination if he can get it.

Obviously Mr. Strauss' chances are not good. But the discussion the drive will stir will ease the way for the nomination of a non-Protestant as running mate for the presidential candidate.

That Senate debate over Mr. Strauss appears to have made more history than it seemed at first.

Active Volcanoes

Nicaragua, largest of the six Central American republics, is notable for active volcanoes and a huge lake inhabited by unique fresh-water sharks.

Most of the country's 1,331,000 people live in the steamy Pacific coastal plain dominated by a string of some two dozen volcanoes and Lago de Nicaragua.

The most famous volcano, Momotombo, smokes almost constantly. A picture of it on a postage stamp helped tip the balance against Nicaragua as the route for a trans-isthmian canal. Supporters of the Panama route cited the stamp to back their argument that Nicaragua was more subject to earthquakes and volcanic action than Panama.

Lago de Nicaragua, an oval 100 miles long and 45 miles wide, was the key to the proposed Nicaraguan canal. Shipping would have gone from the Caribbean Sea up the San Juan River to the lake. From there, only a short canal would have been needed to reach the Pacific Ocean.

Geologists believe the lake was a bay of the ocean until an earthquake pushed it 105 feet above sea level and locked out the ocean. The sharks adapted themselves as the fresh water gradually replaced the salt. Managua, the capital, is located on a large lake of the same name near Lago de Nicaragua.

The San Juan river basin has offered a convenient east-west transport route since the days of the Spanish conquest and was followed by many Forty-Niners bound for the California gold fields.

Crimes And Penalties

By David Lawrence

Traitor Klaus Fuchs Released From Prison

Klaus Fuchs betrayed the country of which he was a citizen — Great Britain — but after only 9 years in prison, he goes free and travels back to the Communist world to which he previously gave the secrets of the atom bomb.

David Lawrence

Four young white boys convicted of rape were given sentences of life imprisonment in Florida but such offenders often are paroled after 10 years in jail.

Charles Starkweather, a teenager who went mad and killed 11 persons, was electrocuted on Thursday in Nebraska.

Does the punishment fit the crime?

In Britain for a long time they have had an agitation against capital punishment, and in March, 1958, the British Parliament by law eliminated capital punishment for many types of murders and prescribed the death penalty only in certain cases such as when a prison guard or policeman is murdered, or during a theft, or as a result of a deliberate shooting.

THE BIBLICAL command "Thou shall not kill" has, of course, been the main basis for the crusade against capital punishment. There has arisen in recent years a widespread belief that individual cases may differ and that a mandatory execution is in itself wrong because it deprives juries and judges of discretion. For in many instances the defendant is temporarily insane and, after a certain period of treatment, could be rehabilitated and restored to society as a repentant and useful person.

Passion runs high at the time of a crime and this has occasionally led to lynchings. The fear of the people that technicalities would obstruct justice has often provoked a mob to take the law into its own hands.

The recent rape cases have had a lot of publicity in different sections of the country. Many letters received by this correspondent point out that in some Northern cities the news of rapings by Negroes on whites has been suppressed or given no prominence. Conversely, in Southern areas there have been instances in which whites have been spared the death sentence for rape, whereas Negroes have suffered the extreme penalty.

It is being questioned whether, judged by purely legal standards, and the history of capital punishment, rape in itself where no death is involved, deserves the extreme penalty. Sometimes execution is a merciful act. A long prison sentence can be a torture that many convicts would prefer to see ended by death.

The advance in psychiatric research has certainly been responsible for the belief that many criminals can be rehabilitated. The punishment which lasts the longest is that which troubles the conscience. Even those who are paroled after a few years in prison find it hard to meet the cold glances of their fellow citizens, who never forget the crime.

TREASON, to be sure, is punishable by death or imprisonment, and the United States has not failed to execute traitors where the evidence was conclusive. The Rosenbergs, for instance, who helped convey secrets to Klaus Fuchs, were tried and executed, though there was a last-minute attempt to get them a reprieve. The Communists in America organized a movement to try to save the Rosenbergs and this in itself convinced all people of their guilt.

Klaus Fuchs betrayed America as well as Britain. For he gathered his information while in this country. British officials made a grave blunder when they cleared him for entrance to American laboratories.

If anyone deserved to be electrocuted, it was Klaus Fuchs. For he imperiled the safety of millions of persons in the West. The British now have let him go behind the iron curtain, where he is free to use his scientific mind to assist the Communists still more. One wonders why the British could not have found some grounds for detaining Fuchs in England. But in an era when capital punishment itself is being inflicted in fewer and fewer cases, perhaps treason is considered a minor offense.

Personal Judgment

By Truman Twill

One day soon, I think, we're going to have to face up to something we've been dodging.

When the host of the Apalachin convention of men believed to be the core of a Mafi-type organization was being interred the other day, his daughter screamed at newspapermen that they had killed her daddy. What killed her daddy was a heart attack worsened by rough publicity about him and his friends who live under a code that seems reasonable to them but makes no sense in the United States.

One of the creepier hoodlum types brought to light by congressional investigation of the Teamsters Union, John Diogaurdia, has been successful in his appeal from a court ruling that sent him to prison on conviction for conspiracy and extortion. Three judges found enough legal loopholes to let Dio and another one like him, John J. McNamara, go free. The fourth judge said flatly the jury that convicted them was right.

In one of television's most significant efforts at reporting without distracting commercials, the Columbia Broadcasting System has shown how James R. Hoffa has established himself as undisputed leader of the world's biggest union, the Teamsters, by making the end justify the means. His loyal supporters in the union say they do not care how he gets his results as long as he and his associates get them. That is why they are kept in power—to get results.

In every legislative body, decisions are being made day in and day out that are motivated wholly by the kind of politics in which the end justifies the means. Public officeholders are swapping votes and favors and salving their consciences by saying they are doing it all for their ever-loving constituents, but in fact they are doing it for their ever-loving selves. It ruined France, and it can ruin us.

In every instance enumerated there has been some form of weird hocus-pocus that has enabled the soft-headed and hard-hearted among us to shrug their shoulders and they say the law is the law and none of these people ever was convicted for anything wrong; that it's the way things are.

It's the way things were for a long time when paid agents of the Communist conspiracy were busier than bees and thicker than thieves in this country and no one could lay a finger on them.

To this day, these people share with many others a kind of special immunity bestowed on them by the sanction of a shadowy legality. But personal judgment finally turned against them.

No one else can strong-arm a citizen of the United States and get away with it. But if you have the right connections and the right sanctions in the right places no one can touch you.

No ordinary taxpayer can play hide-and-seek with the Internal Revenue Service and the U.S. Treasury. But if you are one of the extraordinary taxpayers accustomed to scurrying in the shadows of tenuous legality you can have a ball playing games with tax collectors.

What we've been dodging because we do not want to admit its implications is that we have become so obsessed with the importance of a government of law that we are failing to discriminate against imposters who worm their way into tenous legality by the benefit of a doubt.

No lone individual can get up and slander and revile the government and all constituted authority without having the FBI looking down his throat. But if a fellow who hates everything the rest of us love and cherish does it under the auspices of something that has wormed its way into legality he can look down the FBI's throat and laugh himself sick.

There's no law that says personal judgment is not still in effect. Is there?

TV Drummers

Many birds have come to regard cities as wonderful clusters of caves, cliffs and convenient aids to living.

The woodpecker is one. This bird with the built-in pneumatic drill has discovered the television antenna. As an instrument for the woodpecker's early-morning concerts, the metal antenna hardly can be surpassed by the most resounding tree.

The woodpecker, incidentally, is not hunting for grubs. He seeks a lady - love. Explained naturalist John Burroughs: "Among all the woodpeckers the drum plays an important part in the matchmaking. The male takes up his stand on a dry, resonant limb or the ridgeboard of a building, and beats the loudest call he is capable of."

As the birds of a species tend to pick up habits from each other, more and more TV owners probably will awaken in spring to the staccato of a woodpecker's ardent rapping. Reports of TV drumming have come from such widely-scattered cities as Rye, New York; Washington, D.C.; Cleveland, Ohio; and Pittsfield, Illinois.

If someone were to deprive you of the right of relaxation you would be a slave.

Yet relaxation itself can enslave us!

Nero is a villain of history because he fiddled while Rome burned. He couldn't have put out the fire . . . but what a colossally stupid time to relax!

There are hours in every week when we need to relax. And there are hours that challenge our mightiest effort.

It is like those hours when, with millions the world over, we have opportunity to seek in our churches truth . . . faith . . . God!

The value of relaxation is unquestionable. But the value of religious and moral growth is supreme!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES

The long looked-for summertime is upon us, and with the Fourth of July rapidly approaching, many outdoor activities will be sparked in the good old American tradition.

"School Days" are over for a season, releasing the children to the unbounded joys of summer . . . to picnics, motor trips, swimming, boating, and all of the other wholesome pleasures the sunny days bring.

But will summer bring joy to all children? What about those for whom summer means little but scorching pavements, steaming apartments, playing ball and other games in a busy street, and hide-and-seek in junk-filled alleyways?

The Salvation Army believes that summertime for these children should mean an opportunity for hiking, swimming, boating, weiner roasts, songs around a campfire, participation in group play, and arts, crafts and music.

At its Fort Herrick Camp at Mentor, Ohio, The Salvation Army provides camp experience for approximately 35 children of our community each year.

It is an experience which the children long remember and which bolsters their growth, physically and spiritually, toward happy, healthy, productive adulthood.

Johansson's 'Mystery' Right Brings Him Title In Big Upset

Patterson Felled 7 Times In Third

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson's "mystery" right hand turned out to be an atomic weapon—an explosive force that propelled him to the world's heavyweight championship.

The "thunder and lightning" that the undefeated Swede had promised was unleashed in a pulsating third round that saw defending champion Floyd Patterson felled seven times and stripped of his crown in rain-soaked Yankee Stadium Friday night.

It was a right hand bomb that burst against the jaw of the 5-1 favored American seconds after the third round had started. The power-packed right smashed Patterson to the floor on his back and bereft him of his senses.

Calmly and coldly, as if he were sighting a rifle, the handsome, blue-eyed Viking dropped his bleeding and reeling foe to the canvas until Referee Ruby Goldstein ended the slaughter with a wave of his hands.

It went into the record books as a technical knockout. The seven counts were 9, 9, 6, 6, 7, 9 and 1, all in two minutes and three seconds. It was a massacre.

The mighty right — never displayed in his lackluster training maneuvers—made the 26-year-old, 196-pounder the first Swede ever to win a world boxing championship.

It was complete atonement for Ingo's humiliating disqualification for running and not fighting against American Eddie Sanders in the heavyweight championship final of the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki. In these same games, Patterson was one of the shining stars in capturing the 165-pound crown.

The astonishing upset — witnessed by some 30,000 at the ball park and thousands more in theaters coast to coast—must rank with such shockers as Max Schmeling's kayo of Joe Louis in 1936, Jim Braddock's triumph over Max Baer in 1935 and Jersey Joe Walcott's annihilation of Ezzard Charles in 1951.

The great triumph earned Johansson a purse of about $248,000—most of which will be either attached in law suits or held in escrow for his return bout with Patterson, probably in September. Patterson will collect approximately $560,000 from all sources of revenue, gate, theater-television, radio and movies.

The punch that sent Patterson, 182, on his way "was a straight right—and flush on the chin," said the unmarked invader. "It was my best shot and I thought the fight was over there. I was surprised when he got up. Usually, when I hit a man like that he stays down. But I had to hit him again and again."

"I couldn't see the punch coming," said Patterson. "The first one hit flush on the forehead. When I got up I didn't know where I was. I didn't feel the second punch, but after that I think I started to come out of it. But I couldn't criticize the referee for stopping the fight."

"Are you hurt, Floyd?" he asked.

"No," replied Patterson.

"Patterson will be the first heavyweight champion in history to regain the title," said Floyd's manager, Cus D'Amato."

That first, flashing right that sent the 24-year-old Patterson flat on his back will be long remembered.

Until that blow was landed neither had done much. Ingo, 6 feet ½ inch to Patterson's 5-11, had kept the champion back with a stinging and flicking jab.

Patterson didn't get in under the jab and never let loose with his flashing combination punches to the body. He did score with several hooks to the body but they didn't have the fire he showed in devastating training camp drills—as dynamic as Johansson's were tame and dull.

Seconds after the third round started, Johansson landed the right square on Patterson's jaw and the champion went down on his back. There was a pained look on his face and he was obviously hurt.

Johansson sprang after his helpless quarry and smashed him to the canvas again with another right for nine. Patterson, now bleeding and completely dazed, looked finished.

But the game 24-year-old New Yorker, never knocked out before in his pro career, kept getting up. Down he went five more times and after the last—the seventh of the round—the referee waved off the challenger who became the new world champion.

Thus Ingo became the fourth heavyweight ever to win the crown without a defeat on his record. He has won 22 pro fights 14 by knockouts. John L. Sullivan, Jim Jeffries and Rocky Marciano were the three others. Jeffries had two draws to mar his record.

Patterson's defeat was his second. His record is 36-2 since 1952. The other defeat was a disputed eight-round decision loss to former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in 1954.

The lithe New Yorker had won his last 22 straight fights and 16 of his last 17 by kayoes. He won the title vacated by the retired Marciano by knocking out Archie Moore in the fifth round at Chicago, Nov. 30, 1956.

Johansson had been idle since he blasted out Californian Eddie Machen in the first round of another startling upset at Goteborg, Sweden, last Sept. 14.

Referee Tells Reasons For Halting Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—"It was better for him to be able to walk out than have to be carried out."

This was Referee Ruby Goldstein's explanation of why he stopped the heavyweight championship bout between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson Friday night.

Ruby, 51-year-old veteran of many title bouts, gave the signal that made Johansson the champion at 2:03 of the third round after Patterson had been floored seven times.

"I didn't have any idea how much time was left in the round," Ruby said, "but it really didn't matter. A man can be injured permanently in two or three seconds.

"Patterson was worn out, completely exhausted. It wasn't a case of his suffering injuries from Johansson's punches, but the idea that he was completely helpless to ward off any more punches."

"I only met him once before last night's fight and I was highly impressed," said Tunney on his return home from the title fight in New York. "I always considered Patterson a built up novice but this Johansson, he is a real fighter."

Promoter Set To Run Show In Next Clash

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am now the boss. I am tired of being dictated to."

"I have Johansson under exclusive contract," Rosensohn said. "I am going to promote the return bout in September."

Rosensohn added that neither Cus D'Amato, manager of dethroned champion Floyd Patterson, nor Irving Kahn, the theater-TV man, would have anything to say about the TV radio or motion pictures of the return match.

'Biggest Draw' In History Predicted For Return Bout

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think there will be a return bout and I believe it will be the biggest draw in the history of boxing."

The speaker was Cus D'Amato, the mysterious mastermind who dreamed up the fight that cost his fighter, Floyd Patterson, the world heavyweight championship Friday night.

"I think Johansson will want to prove that this was no fluke," D'Amato added. "There's a return bout clause in the contract."

Some 40 minutes before Sweden's Ingemar Johansson had stopped Patterson in 2:03 of the third round of a rain-plagued bout in Yankee Stadium. The disconsolate ex-champion had spent most of the intervening time in an inner room before he came out, fully dressed and showing few battle scars.

He backed into Mickey Mantle's dressing cubicle and the white-haired manager stood in front of him, relaying answers to shouted questions and adding his own opinions.

"I didn't see the punch coming," said the soft-voiced Patterson. "I don't really know where it landed." D'Amato then explained: "I saw it. It landed right here—between the eyes."

The noise, confusion and delay in Patterson's dressing room was nothing compared to the scene in and around Johansson's quarters behind the visitors' dugout at Yankee Stadium.

Ingemar's sister Eva, dabbing at tears in her eyes, his mother and father—the latter still shaking from excitement, and his fiancee, Birgit Lundgren, waited out there with the mob while Ingo leisurely showered, dressed and took time to speak a few words for the Swedish radio. Then he answered questions in a voice almost inaudible to those who weren't close to him.

"You see I fool you," he said gleefully. "You thought my right hand was just a fantasy. I show you—and I also show Patterson."

It was the same right hand that Johansson's failure to make use of it in training was one of the greatest of many mysteries surrounding this championship fight.

D'Amato has good reason for believing that a great many people will want to see for themselves when and if the return bout takes place.

Johansson said that first right-hand punch of the third round was the hardest blow he struck, but he still had to knock Patterson down six more times before Referee Ruby Goldstein stepped in and halted the bout.

"He kept getting up. I never had a chance to hit him so solidly again. But I knew he could never come back," Johansson said.

Patterson felt the referee's action was completely justified.

"It's natural for me to feel that I could have gone on," Patterson said, "but I think the referee used his best judgment."

'Good Luck' Charm Carried By Ingemar

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson kept fingering an object in his hand while he talked to friends and newspapermen at a midtown hotel after he won the heavyweight boxing championship.

"It's a charm someone sent to me," Ingo said. "I've been carrying it around with me." A silver key chain with a silver boxing glove attached.

"Is that a good luck charm?" he was asked.

"It must be," he grinned.

Red-Hot Pott Still Leads In Chicago Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Johnny Pott, the little-known, 23-year-old from Shreveport, La., showed no signs of folding in maintaining his lead through the 36-hole juncture of the $57,000 Chicago Golf Open.

Pott, an affable 180-pounder whose dad once was a golf pro in Mississippi and Louisiana, continued to take apart the par 35-35 — 70 Gleneagles public fee course Friday with a 67. He coupled this with an opening course record 63 for a 10-under-par 130.

Pott never has finished better than seventh on the PGA circuit, that being in the Houston Open last winter.

Pott credits fellow Louisianian, Lionel Hebert, the 1957 PGA champion, for much of his improvement.

"Lionel showed me how to keep my hands in closer to my body after impact and it cured my hook off the tees. My game improved and so did my whole attitude."

Only two strokes behind at 132 was veteran Bo Wininger who shot successive 66s. Grouped at 136 were Arnold Palmer, Billy Maxwell and Walker Cupper Jack Nicklaus, 19-year-old Ohio State sophomore.

The low 100 and ties in the original field of 151 qualified for today's third round. Among those failing to make it was National Open Champion Bill Casper who had 150.

Miss Suggs Retains Lead At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Louise Suggs made up her mind that in order to win her third Women's National Open Golf title she would have to follow an old formula—relax and take it easy.

She leads by two strokes in today's gruelling 36-hole final at the Churchill Valley Country Club.

Unlike most professionals and eager amateurs, the sweet swinger from Sea Island, Ga., passed up a pre-tournament tour of the course to concentrate on chipping, putting and driving.

"I played only three holes," said Miss Suggs. "Pre-tournament activity tires me out and I've found I've got to concentrate my energy to play a good game."

Scores soared Friday, including the round by Miss Suggs who shot a 4-over par 74 after a 1-over par on Thursday.

She leads by two strokes over defending champion Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif.; former champion Patty Berg of West Chicago, Ill.; and Marlene Bauer Hagge, the host club pro.

Baltimore Whips Detroit Twice, Moves Back Into Second

Tribe, Yanks Keep Rolling In Tight Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles climbed back into second place in the American League Friday night with a 12-7 and 4-1 sweep of a twi-night double-header at Detroit. That left them just one game behind Cleveland's first place Indians, who belted Boston 11-5. It also left the Tigers four games behind in fifth.

New York's defending champion Yankees, crunching along on their avenging adventure, whipped Chicago 8-4 and gained a third place tie with the White Sox, two games shy of first. The champs haven't been this high since April 24.

Washington's homer-happy Senators belted four, with Harmon Killebrew getting his 25th, in an 8-4 victory at Kansas City that sprung the Nats out of the cellar and dumped the A's into last place.

Bob Nieman had four hits, one a homer, and drove in five runs in the first game for the Orioles, who cashed four Tiger errors for seven unearned runs that beat Ray Narleski (4-8). Billy O'Dell (4-6) was the winner, although chased in a seven-run ninth. Al Kaline, Gus Zernial and Charlie Maxwell homered for the Tigers, who have lost seven of their last 10. Zernial's shot was his 10th pinch-hit homer, tying Pittsburgh's Smoky Burgess for the major league career record.

Singles by Gus Triandos and Billy Gardner, Walt Dropo's double and a force out scored two runs in the nightcap second for the Birds as they picked up their seventh victory in the last 10 games. Jerry Walker (5-3) was the winner with Billy Loes' two shutout innings of relief. Frank Lary (8-4) lost it.

The Yankees, winning 21 of their last 30 and fourth in a row from the White Sox, smacked Billy Pierce (8-8) for home runs by Hector Lopez and Gil McDougald while building a 6-2 lead. Art Ditmar (6-5) won it with relief help from first Ralph Terry and then Ryne Duren, who fanned eight in the last three innings while extending his shutout string to 25 frames.

Duren, hit by a pitch in the ninth, got into a finger-pointing hassle with Chicago reliever Rodolfo Arias and then hit Nellie Fox in the ninth while striking out the side. But there was no real flare up.

It was different at Cleveland. The Injuns' Vic Power was hit by Billy Monbouquette following Woody Held's two-run homer in the third inning and was wrestled to a stop on his trudge to the mound in Boston catcher Pete Daley. Power was ejected before any swings were recorded.

Dick Brown also hit a two-run homer for Cleveland as Cal McLish (3-3) won his third in a row despite a grand slam by Jackie Jensen and a solo homer by Dick Gernert. Jerry Casale (6-5) who had won five in a row, left with the loss in a five-run Cleveland first.

Faye Throneberry (5), rookie Bob Allison (20) and Bob Lemon (18) also homered for the Senators, who skipped into sixth place. Camilo Pascual (6-7) won it with relief help after blanking the A's for six. Ned Garver (6-6) was the loser.

Littens Heads All-Star Nine

Littens, first - half champion of the Pony League, dominates the all-star team which will be entered in tournament play in mid-July.

The teams, selected by managers and officials, include eight from Littens, two from Burbicks, three from Woodbine and four from Golden Star.

Dick Owen, manager of Littens, will direct the All-Stars.

Brawl Enlivens Indians' Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians put on an exciting show for the 25,416 fans at Municipal Stadium Friday night. They defeated the Boston Red Sox 11-5 in a game enlivened by a rhubarb that emptied both dugouts.

As baseball fights go, this one was about up to par—plenty of shoving and pushing but no knockdowns. It started when Boston pitcher Bill Monbouquette fired a pair of third-inning pitches pretty close to Vic Power, following a two-run homer by Woodie Held.

When the next one came even closer—the umpire said it hit Power—the fiery Puerto Rican dashed out to the mound for "a few words" with the pitcher. Monbouquette retreated toward third and catcher Pete Daley ran out to intercept Power. The receiver tackled Power and wrestled him down.

That was the signal for players from both dugouts and the bullpen to rush on the field. A mad scramble of players milled around, but cooler heads prevented a Donnybrook from developing.

When it was over, umpire Larry Napp ejected Power from the game. Manager Joe Gordon couldn't figure that out, so he announced he was playing the game under protest.

The game itself was no contest after the first inning when the Indians tallied five runs and chased starter and loser Jerry Casale before he could retire a batter.

Cleveland added two more in the second inning to make it 7-0. The Red Sox tried to get back into the game in the third when Jackie Jensen's bases-loaded home run made it 7-4.

Held's home run, following a single by Dick Brown, made the count 9-4. Brown hit a home run in the fifth, scoring behind Granny Hamner who had singled.

Cal McLish won his eighth game against three setbacks, despite yielding 11 hits. The Indians also had 11 hits off four boston hurlers.

Giants Top Phils; Dodgers Nip Bucs

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies, beaten on three hits at Los Angeles Thursday night, were shut out on three hits by Mike McCormick Friday night as the Giants rolled to an 8-0 victory.

That kept San Francisco within two games of Milwaukee and two percentage points ahead of Los Angeles.

Milwaukee breezed with an 11-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Los Angeles puffed past Pittsburgh 6-5. Cincinnati beat St. Louis in their squabble over sixth place, 7-6 in 10 innings.

The Phillies, shut out on eight hits in three games at San Francisco this season, now have failed to score in 23 innings against McCormick (6-7). Friday night he gave up only singles—by Harry Anderson in the second, Dave Philley in the fourth and George Anderson in the fifth—and retired the last 13 in order. He walked none, struck out six.

Jackie Brandt hit a grand slam home run Friday night and Willie Mays hit a solo homer—only his second in a month. Jim Owens (4-6) lost it.

The Dodgers won five straight for the first time since leaving Brooklyn while matching home runs with the Pirates. Each had three. Charlie Neal's two - run blast in the seventh was the clincher. Duke Snider and John Roseboro hit the others for Los Angeles, while Harry Bright, Dick Stuart and Don Hoak homered for Pittsburgh. Johnny Podres (8 - 4) was the winner with relief help. Ron Kline (6-5) was the loser.

Warren Spahn (10-8) was backed by three - run innings by the Braves. He also hit his first home run of the season, the 22nd of his major league career—tops for NL pitchers. Wes Covington and Johnny Logan each had three hits and drove in five runs between them. John Buzhardt (4-3) was the loser.

The Cardinals chased Don Newcombe in a five-run eighth, but the Reds then scored four in their eighth for a tie and finally put it away on Johnny Temple's bases-loaded double against losing reliever Tom Cheney (0-1). Luis Arroyo (1-0) was the winner in relief after the Cards had smacked Newk and Brooks Lawrence for four home runs—two by Stan Musial, who was 3-for-4 and drove in three runs. Joe Cunningham and Ken Boyer rapped the other homers as the Cards again slipped to seventh.

Mother Of Coach Dies

Newk Chased, But Reds Win

The big right-hander, who had won seven in a row and gone the distance nine times, was knocked out of the box in the eighth inning Friday night by the St. Louis Cardinals, but the Redlegs came back to win the game 7-6 in 10 innings.

For seven innings, Newcombe looked like he was on his way to another victory, but Cardinal home runs in the eighth ended his hopes.

Going into the eighth, Big Newk had a 2-1 lead. Don Blasingame grounded out and then the sky fell in. Joe Cunningham homered into the rightfield seats, Bill White doubled, Ken Boyer homered and Newcombe departed.

Brooks Lawrence replaced him but before he got the side out he walked Gino Cimoli who scored a minute later on Stan Musiel's second home run of the night. Musial scored the Cards' first run in the seventh.

The Redlegs tied it in their half of the inning on walks by Gus Bell and Ed Bailey and singles by Jim Pendleton, Eddie Kasko, Johnny Temple and Whitey Lockman.

The Cards got the first two men on in the tenth but reliefer Luis Arroyo, who picked up his first decision with Cincinnati, worked his way out of trouble.

The Redlegs got their winning run when Temple doubled to the scoreboard, scoring Kasko who had been walked intentionally.

Earlier, the Reds had picked up one run in the fifth and another in the Sixth.

Men Ordered Back

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Some 400 workers who struck at the General Tire and Rubber Co. were ordered back on the job Friday by United Rubber Workers Local 9. The wildcat strike shut down the truck tire department from Thursday midnight. The company said workers walked out in a dispute over production rates at the plant, which employs 2,200. The company refused to discuss the grievance until the workers returned to their jobs.

Boating Week Set Officially

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence has issued a proclamation setting aside the week beginning today as Safe Boating Week in East Liverpool and calling upon operators of pleasure craft to take advantage of free inspections offered by Flotilla 7 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The observance here is part of a nationwide program to call attention to the need to know and observe the basic rules of safe boating and to maintain pleasure craft in good mechanical condition.

"The growing popularity of boating as America's favorite family recreation makes it necessary for every boatman to use common sense and courtesy afloat to keep boating one of the safest of all outdoor activities," the mayor's proclamation said in part.

Flotilla 7 has 9 qualified inspectors. They will be available throughout the week to make free inspections of small craft at the wharf at the foot of Broadway. Members of other boat clubs should make arrangements in advance to take their boats for inspection to assure that an inspector will be on hand, the auxiliary said.

The observance will continue through Sunday, July 5.

If someone were to deprive you of the right of relaxation you would be a slave.

Yet relaxation itself can enslave us!

Nero is a villain of history because he fiddled while Rome burned. He couldn't have put out the fire . . . but what a colossally stupid time to relax!

There are hours in every week when we need to relax. And there are hours that challenge our mightiest effort.

It is like those hours when, with millions the world over, we have opportunity to seek in our churches truth . . . faith . . . God!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES

The long looked-for summertime is upon us, and with the Fourth of July rapidly approaching, many outdoor activities will be sparked in the good old American tradition.

"School Days" are over for a season, releasing the children to the unbounded joys of summer . . . to picnics, motor trips, swimming, boating, and all of the other wholesome pleasures the sunny days bring.

But will summer bring joy to all children? What about those for whom summer means little but scorching pavements, steaming apartments, playing ball and other games in a busy street, and hide-and-seek in junk-filled alleyways?

The Salvation Army believes that summertime for these children should mean an opportunity for hiking, swimming, boating, weiner roasts, songs around a campfire, participation in group play, and arts, crafts and music.

At its Fort Herrick Camp at Mentor, Ohio, The Salvation Army provides camp experience for approximately 35 children of our community each year.

Action Due On Candidate Funds

From Our Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio —A bill to raise the ceilings on political campaign expenditures and tighten control over them is ready for action by the Ohio General Assembly.

The measure, a combination of five introduced in the session, has been recommended for passage by the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee. It is expected to get speedy treatment as the Legislature pushes for adjournment next month.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said in a special message early in the session that he hoped something would be done to correct abuses of the state's campaign expense laws and to replace the present limits with more "realistic" ones.

Still on 'Must' List

Last Thursday he told newsmen that a bill to do this is still on his list of "must" legislation before adjournment.

Four of the original measures contained in the new bill were introduced by Rep. R. Martin Galvin (D-Lucas), a DiSalle protege. The other was sponsored by a Democrat and two Republicans, including Rep. Joseph E. Lady (R-Hardin).

The new draft would allow candidates for state offices to spend the equivalent of the total salary for the term of each office. A gubernatorial candidate, for instance, could spend $100,000 on his campaign. At present he is limited to $5,000 and other state elected officials are limited to $4,000.

Candidates for district offices, such as state senators, or for offices voted upon by the citizens of a single county, such as county officials and state representatives, would be limited to the equivalent of one year's salary in the office.

$5,000 for Legislators

In the case of legislators, that would be $5,000. State senators now are limited to $1,000 plus $50 for each county or part of a county in their districts and representatives are limited to $750.

The ceilings on expenses by candidates for other offices, such as township or municipal posts, would vary according to the votes cast for governor at the previous election in the subdivision.

The bill sets the limit in primary campaigns at half that permitted for the general election.

In an effort to provide better control and enforcement of the ceilings, the bill would require that every candidate appoint a campaign manager and that all contributions to his campaign be made through the manager.

Would Provide Limits

In addition to the candidates' ceilings, the bill also provides limits on the spending that can be done by political parties.

For state and district party committees, this would be the equivalent of 5 cents per person in the state, based on the last federal census.

For county parties, including subdivisions of the county, the limit would be 10 cents per person in the county.

The parties and candidates both would be required to file statements of their expenses with the secretary of state or the county boards of elections, who would be responsible for detecting violations and reporting them to the attorney general or prosecutor.

Would Bar Candidates

Parties or party committees could be barred from participation in campaigns for from two to six years. Winning candidates would have to forfeit their nominations or offices, and would be barred from appointments to vacancies in the offices for a certain period.

The penalty for knowingly filing or conspiring to file a false expense statement would be a fine up to $5,000 a year's imprisonment or both.

A candidate who failed to appoint a campaign manager would be barred from being a candidate for one year. Any person or organization who contributed to a candidate's campaign other than through his manager would be subject to a $500 to $1,000 fine.

4 Known Dead When Two Jet Planes Crash

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—At least four men died as two jet planes crashed on opposite sides of San Antonio within 40 minutes Friday night.

Firemen, able to reach the flaming wreckage only on foot, sent back word that three perished in an RB66 — a reconnaissance bomber—which hit on top of a steep, rocky hill about 20 miles northwest of here.

A fourth man died in a T33 trainer which also burned after crashing one mile north of Lavernia, 26 miles southeast of San Antonio. The planes crashed about 40 miles apart.

A spokesman at Homestead Air Force Base near Miami, Fla., identified the T33 pilot as First Lt. Roy B. Owings Jr. He was returning the trainer to Homestead from Oakland, Calif. Owings is survived by his widow Linda and two children, Anna, 3, and Roy D. III. His permanent address was Great Falls, S.C.

Church Would Serve, But Enough Is Enough

BELVEDIERE, Ill. (AP) — What's the difference in dialing a wrong number when you want a pool hall or a dairy or a laundry?

St. John's Church—that's what. The Rev. Louis Weichbrodt, pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ, issued a notice to "Please check carefully which number you want before you dial."

Then he explained:

"St. John's Church is happy to talk with any who want to call. But we are unable to supply laundry service, dairy products or recreational facilities such as pool or billiards and cannot relay information to anyone who does."

The parsonage number is LI 4-3773, the same number formerly used by a pool hall, one digit away from the one for a laundry and two digits away from a dairy.

Thrill Show Canceled

Meets Nixon, Rockefeller

Queen Visits Power Plant As Ceremonies Continue

By RELMAN MORIN

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today visits what's been called the "greatest engineering project in the world" and meets two men who may contend for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The royal yacht Britannia, after sailing through the St. Lawrence Seaway in a symbolic opening with President Eisenhower aboard, headed for the Cornwall—Massena, N.Y., area where the St. Lawrence power project operates. Eisenhower returned to Washington Friday.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller arranged to welcome the Queen and Prince Philip today. Ceremonies greeting the royal couple are set for Eisenhower Lock; Moses-Saunders Dam, and at the international boundary.

Nixon and Rockefeller, both frequently mentioned as potential rivals for the Republican nomination next year, are slated to speak and Elizabeth is listed for a statement acknowledging the welcome.

However, the festivities today emphasize electric, not political, power.

The St. Lawrence power project, though not exclusively Canadian, is one of Canada's most spectacular industrial projects.

All the components have been installed, generating more than one billion kilowatts. When running at maximum, it is second only to the Grand Coulee on the Columbia River in Washington state among hydroelectric plants of the western world.

The St. Lawrence River, dropping 92 feet in 40 miles between Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Cornwall, Ont., provides a vast force to spin turbines in 32 generators—16 on each side of the international boundary.

Things Look Brighter For Alcatraz Inmates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dainty colors are being used to decorate Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay.

Other pastel colors are used in the prison hospital and shops. Walls of the prison yard are to be painted light yellow.

Court Suspends Driver Permits Of 2 Youths

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the permits of two drivers and the fining of three others.

The license of Kay A. Senior, 17, of Leetonia R. D. was suspended for 20 days and that of Arthur L. Grossern, 17, of Negley for 30 days. Both were charged with failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

Daniel Jenkins, 15, of Kensington R. D. 1 was fined $20 for reckless operation and lack of a driver's license.

Frank Shagnot, 17, of Salem R. D. 2 was fined $10 for operating a farm tractor on a highway without lights.

Johansson's 'Mystery' Right Brings Him Title In Big Upset

Patterson Felled 7 Times In Third

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson's "mystery" right hand turned out to be an atomic weapon—an explosive force that propelled him to the world's heavyweight championship.

The "thunder and lightning" that the undefeated Swede had promised was unleashed in a pulsating third round that saw defending champion Floyd Patterson felled seven times and stripped of his crown in rain-soaked Yankee Stadium Friday night.

It was a right hand bomb that burst against the jaw of the 5-1 favored American seconds after the third round had started. The power-packed right smashed Patterson to the floor on his back and bereft him of his senses.

Calmly and coldly, as if he were sighting a rifle, the handsome, blue-eyed Viking dropped his bleeding and reeling foe to the canvas until Referee Ruby Goldstein ended the slaughter with a wave of his hands.

It went into the record books as a technical knockout. The seven counts were 9, 9, 6, 6, 7, 9 and 1, all in two minutes and three seconds. It was a massacre.

The mighty right — never displayed in his lackluster training maneuvers—made the 26-year-old, 196-pounder the first Swede ever to win a world boxing championship.

It was complete atonement for Ingo's humiliating disqualification for running and not fighting against American Eddie Sanders in the heavyweight championship final of the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki. In these same games, Patterson was one of the shining stars in capturing the 165-pound crown.

The astonishing upset — witnessed by some 30,000 at the ball park and thousands more in theaters coast to coast—must rank with such shockers as Max Schmeling's kayo of Joe Louis in 1936, Jim Braddock's triumph over Max Baer in 1935 and Jersey Joe Walcott's annihilation of Ezzard Charles in 1951.

The great triumph earned Johansson a purse of about $248,000 —most of which will be either attached in law suits or held in escrow for his return bout with Patterson, probably in September. Patterson will collect approximately $560,000 from all sources of revenue, gate, theater-television, radio and movies.

The punch that sent Patterson, 182, on his way "was a straight right—and flush on the chin," said the unmarked invader. "It was my best shot and I thought the fight was over there. I was surprised when he got up. Usually, when I hit a man like that he stays down. But I had to hit him again and again."

"I couldn't see the punch coming," said Patterson. "The first one hit flush on the forehead. When I got up I didn't know where I was. I didn't feel the second punch, but after that I think I started to come out of it. But I couldn't criticize the referee for stopping the fight."

"Are you hurt, Floyd?" he asked.

"No," replied Patterson.

"Patterson will be the first heavyweight champion in history to regain the title," said Floyd's manager, Cus D'Amato."

That first, flashing right that sent the 24-year-old Patterson flat on his back will be long remembered.

Until that blow was landed neither had done much. Ingo, 6 feet ½ inch to Patterson's 5-11, had kept the champion back with a stinging and flicking jab.

Patterson didn't get in under the jab and never let loose with his flashing combination punches to the body. He did score with several hooks to the body but they didn't have the fire he showed in devastating training camp drills—as dynamic as Johansson's were tame and dull.

Seconds after the third round started, Johansson landed the right square on Patterson's jaw and the champion went down on his back. There was a pained look on his face and he was obviously hurt.

Johansson sprang after his helpless quarry and smashed him to the canvas again with another right for nine. Patterson, now bleeding and completely dazed, looked finished.

But the game 24-year-old New Yorker, never knocked out before in his pro career, kept getting up. Down he went five more times and after the last—the seventh of the round—the referee waved off the challenger who became the new world champion.

Thus Ingo became the fourth heavyweight ever to win the crown without a defeat on his record. He has won 22 pro fights 14 by knockouts. John L. Sullivan, Jim Jeffries and Rocky Marciano were the three others. Jeffries had two draws to mar his record.

Patterson's defeat was his second. His record is 36-2 since 1952. The other defeat was a disputed eight-round decision loss to former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in 1954.

The lithe New Yorker had won his last 22 straight fights and 16 of his last 17 by kayoes. He won the title vacated by the retired Marciano by knocking out Archie Moore in the fifth round at Chicago, Nov. 30, 1956.

Johansson had been idle since he blasted out Californian Eddie Machen in the first round of another startling upset at Goteborg, Sweden, last Sept. 14.

Referee Tells Reasons For Halting Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—"It was better for him to be able to walk out than have to be carried out."

This was Referee Ruby Goldstein's explanation of why he stopped the heavyweight championship bout between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson Friday night.

Ruby, 51-year-old veteran of many title bouts, gave the signal that made Johansson the champion at 2:03 of the third round after Patterson had been floored seven times.

"I didn't have any idea how much time was left in the round," Ruby said, "but it really didn't matter. A man can be injured permanently in two or three seconds.

"Patterson was worn out, completely exhausted. It wasn't a case of his suffering injuries from Johansson's punches, but the idea that he was completely helpless to ward off any more punches."

Tunney Impressed By Ingemar's Ability

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gene Tunney, who retired as unbeaten heavyweight champion 30 years ago, was strong in his praise of Ingemar Johnansson, the new champion.

"I only met him once before last night's fight and I was highly impressed," said Tunney on his return home from the title fight in New York. "I always considered Patterson a built up novice but this Johansson, he is a real fighter."

Promoter Set To Run Show In Next Clash

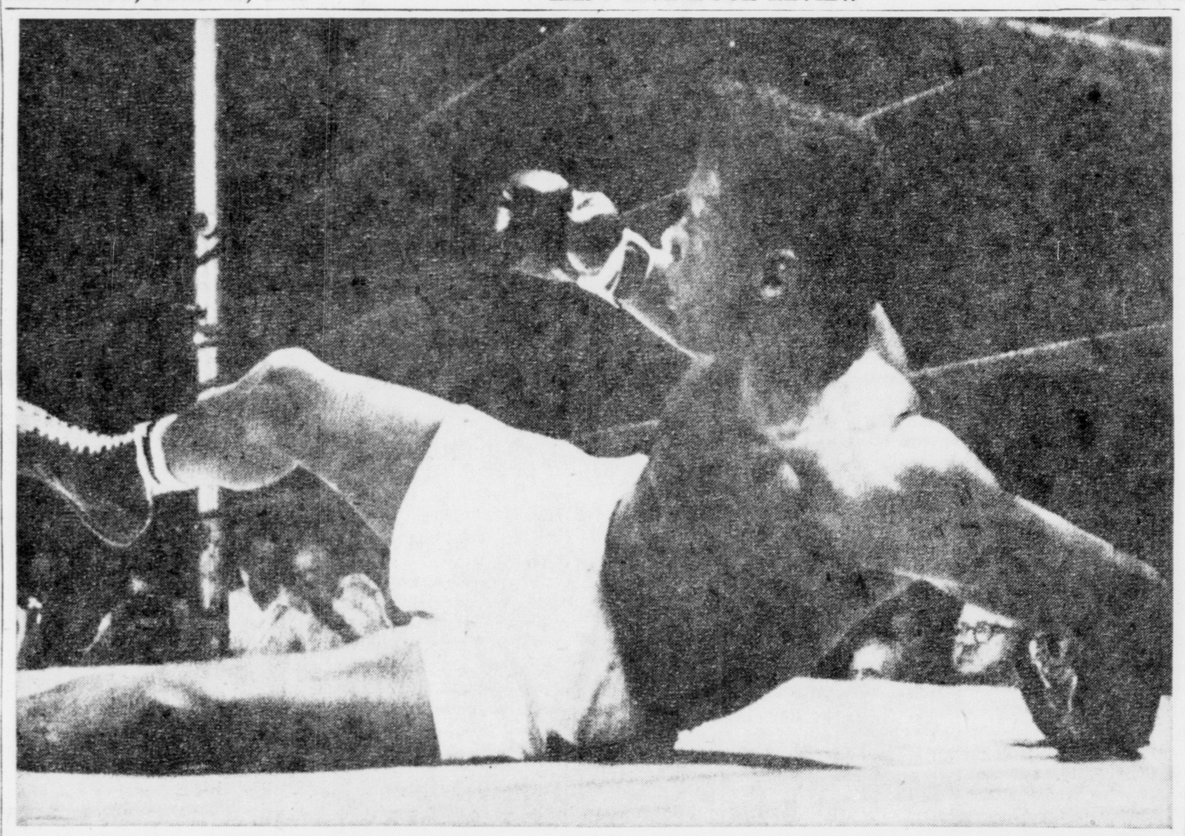

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am now the boss. I am tired of being dictated to."

"I have Johansson under exclusive contract," Rosensohn said. "I am going to promote the return bout in September."

Rosensohn added that neither Cus D'Amato, manager of dethroned champion Floyd Patterson, nor Irving Kahn, the theater-TV man, would have anything to say about the TV radio or motion pictures of the return match.

'Biggest Draw' In History Predicted For Return Bout

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think there will be a return bout and I believe it will be the biggest draw in the history of boxing."

The speaker was Cus D'Amato, the mysterious mastermind who dreamed up the fight that cost his fighter, Floyd Patterson, the world heavyweight championship Friday night.

Some 40 minutes before Sweden's Ingemar Johansson had stopped Patterson in 2:03 of the third round of a rain-plagued bout in Yankee Stadium. The disconsolate ex-champion had spent most of the intervening time in an inner room before he came out, fully dressed and showing few battle scars.

He backed into Mickey Mantle's dressing cubicle and the white-haired manager stood in front of him, relaying answers to shouted questions and adding his own opinions.

"I didn't see the punch coming," said the soft-voiced Patterson. "I don't really know where it landed." D'Amato then explained: "I saw it. It landed right here—between the eyes."

The noise, confusion and delay in Patterson's dressing room was nothing compared to the scene in and around Johansson's quarters behind the visitors' dugout at Yankee Stadium.

Ingemar's sister Eva, dabbing at tears in her eyes, his mother and father—the latter still shaking from excitement, and his fiancee, Birgit Lundgren, waited out there with the mob while Ingo leisurely showered, dressed and took time to speak a few words for the Swedish radio. Then he answered questions in a voice almost inaudible to those who weren't close to him.

"You see I fool you," he said gleefully. "You thought my right hand was just a fantasy. I show you—and I also show Patterson."

It was the same right hand that Johansson's failure to make use of it in training was one of the greatest of many mysteries surrounding this championship fight.

D'Amato has good reason for believing that a great many people will want to see for themselves when and if the return bout takes place.

Johansson said that first right-hand punch of the third round was the hardest blow he struck, but he still had to knock Patterson down six more times before Referee Ruby Goldstein stepped in and halted the bout.

"He kept getting up. I never had a chance to hit him so solidly again. But I knew he could never come back," Johansson said.

Patterson felt the referee's action was completely justified.

"It's natural for me to feel that I could have gone on," Patterson said, "but I think the referee used his best judgment."

'Good Luck' Charm Carried By Ingemar

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson kept fingering an object in his hand while he talked to friends and newspapermen at a midtown hotel after he won the heavyweight boxing championship.

"It's a charm someone sent to me," Ingo said. "I've been carrying it around with me." A silver key chain with a silver boxing glove attached.

"Is that a good luck charm?" he was asked.

Red-Hot Pott Still Leads In Chicago Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Johnny Pott, the little-known, 23-year-old from Shreveport, La., showed no signs of folding in maintaining his lead through the 36-hole juncture of the $57,000 Chicago Golf Open.

Pott, an affable 180-pounder whose dad once was a golf pro in Mississippi and Louisiana, continued to take apart the par 35-35 — 70 Gleneagles public fee course Friday with a 67. He coupled this with an opening course record 63 for a 10-under-par 130.

Pott never has finished better than seventh on the PGA circuit, that being in the Houston Open last winter.

"Lionel showed me how to keep my hands in closer to my body after impact and it cured my hook off the tees. My game improved and so did my whole attitude."

Only two strokes behind at 132 was veteran Bo Wininger who shot successive 66s. Grouped at 136 were Arnold Palmer, Billy Maxwell and Walker Cupper Jack Nicklaus, 19-year-old Ohio State sophomore.

The low 100 and ties in the original field of 151 qualified for today's third round. Among those failing to make it was National Open Champion Bill Casper who had 150.

Miss Suggs Retains Lead At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Louise Suggs made up her mind that in order to win her third Women's National Open Golf title she would have to follow an old formula—relax and take it easy.

She leads by two strokes in today's gruelling 36-hole final at the Churchill Valley Country Club.

Unlike most professionals and eager amateurs, the sweet swinger from Sea Island, Ga., passed up a pre-tournament tour of the course to concentrate on chipping, putting and driving.

"I played only three holes," said Miss Suggs. "Pre-tournament activity tires me out and I've found I've got to concentrate my energy to play a good game."

Scores soared Friday, including the round by Miss Suggs who shot a 4-over par 74 after a 1-over par on Thursday.

Educator Deplores Violence On TV

Speaking at a recent meeting in Los Angeles which celebrated the 10th anniversary of the National Association for Better Radio and Television, this writer deplored the large number of programs of violence on TV which so many young children are viewing. Then he had a good word about some desirable programs and their educational uses. To quote a few of his remarks: "Once a week, one-fourth, perhaps one-half of the children of our nation spend an hour or so in a church or synagogue, where they learn of kindness, sympathy, love, co-operation and the preciousness of a human life. On the same day, most of these same children view TV programs of hate, violence and murder for several hours — and for every day of the week, year after year.

By Garry Meyers

"THESE PROGRAMS are usually more exciting and interesting than the children heard or saw at church, synagogue or Sunday school. The more shooting and slugging and stabbing in them, the more the children enjoy them. And the more interesting they are, the more impression they must make on a child.

"It's the children from 2 to 6 for whom TV is the longest and most frequent babysitter. The young child tends to believe that what he sees and hears is true, so he must suppose that life is very cheap, and that all he sees on TV is the normal way of life and death. He must grow insensitive to pain and suffering in other persons.

"YET MOST parents seem to suppose that the good to which their children are exposed will overbalance all the evil that they see and hear. On the sin of violence on TV, religious educators, clergymen and the religious press are almost wholly silent.

"Nevertheless, there are some very high quality programs on TV. The increasing number of educational TV stations, and the demonstrated possibilities of TV as a teaching medium in the classroom, are heartening.

Also encouraging are scattered reports of the resourcefulness of some teachers, parents and librarians in utilizing the interest aroused in children by some commercial TV programs, to motivate reading of related books and provide enjoyment of good music and enrichment of knowledge.

All these, fortnately, have a good press in newspapers, general magazines and educational books and periodicals."

Baltimore Whips Detroit Twice, Moves Back Into Second

Tribe, Yanks Keep Rolling In Tight Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles climbed back into second place in the American League Friday night with a 12-7 and 4-1 sweep of a twi-night double-header at Detroit. That left them just one game behind Cleveland's first place Indians, who belted Boston 11-5. It also left the Tigers four games behind in fifth.

New York's defending champion Yankees, crunching along on their avenging adventure, whipped Chicago 8-4 and gained a third place tie with the White Sox, two games shy of first. The champs haven't been this high since April 24.

Washington's homer-happy Senators belted four, with Harmon Killebrew getting his 25th, in an 8-4 victory at Kansas City that sprung the Nats out of the cellar and dumped the A's into last place.

Bob Nieman had four hits, one a homer, and drove in five runs in the first game for the Orioles, who cashed four Tiger errors for seven unearned runs that beat Ray Narleski (4-8). Billy O'Dell (4-6) was the winner, although chased in a seven-run ninth. Al Kaline, Gus Zernial and Charlie Maxwell homered for the Tigers, who have lost seven of their last 10. Zernial's shot was his 10th pinch-hit homer, tying Pittsburgh's Smoky Burgess for the major league career record.

Singles by Gus Triandos and Billy Gardner, Walt Dropo's double and a force out scored two runs in the nightcap second for the Birds as they picked up their seventh victory in the last 10 games. Jerry Walker (5-3) was the winner with Billy Loes' two shutout innings of relief. Frank Lary (8-4) lost it.

The Yankees, winning 21 of their last 30 and fourth in a row from the White Sox, smacked Billy Pierce (8-8) for home runs by Hector Lopez and Gil McDougald while building a 6-2 lead. Art Ditmar (6-5) won it with relief help from first Ralph Terry and then Ryne Duren, who fanned eight in the last three innings while extending his shutout string to 25 frames.

Duren, hit by a pitch in the ninth, got into a finger-pointing hassle with Chicago reliever Rodolfo Arias and then hit Nellie Fox in the ninth while striking out the side. But there was no real flare up.

It was different at Cleveland. The Injuns' Vic Power was hit by Billy Monbouquette following Woody Held's two-run homer in the third inning and was wrestled to a stop on his trudge to the mound in Boston catcher Pete Daley. Power was ejected before any swings were recorded.

Dick Brown also hit a two-run homer for Cleveland as Cal McLish (3-3) won his third in a row despite a grand slam by Jackie Jensen and a solo homer by Dick Gernert. Jerry Casale (6-5) who had won five in a row, left with the loss in a five-run Cleveland first.

Faye Throneberry (5), rookie Bob Allison (20) and Bob Lemon (18) also homered for the Senators, who skipped into sixth place. Camilo Pascual (6-7) won it with relief help after blanking the A's for six. Ned Garver (6-6) was the loser.

Littens Heads All-Star Nine

Littens, first - half champion of the Pony League, dominates the all-star team which will be entered in tournament play in mid-July.

The teams, selected by managers and officials, include eight from Littens, two from Burbicks, three from Woodbine and four from Golden Star.

Dick Owen, manager of Littens, will direct the All-Stars.

Brawl Enlivens Indians' Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians put on an exciting show for the 25,416 fans at Municipal Stadium Friday night. They defeated the Boston Red Sox 11-5 in a game enlivened by a rhubarb that emptied both dugouts.

As baseball fights go, this one was about up to par—plenty of shoving and pushing but no knockdowns. It started when Boston pitcher Bill Monbouquette fired a pair of third-inning pitches pretty close to Vic Power, following a two-run homer by Woodie Held.

When the next one came even closer—the umpire said it hit Power—the fiery Puerto Rican dashed out to the mound for "a few words" with the pitcher. Monbouquette retreated toward third and catcher Pete Daley ran out to intercept Power. The receiver tackled Power and wrestled him down.

That was the signal for players from both dugouts and the bullpen to rush on the field. A mad scramble of players milled around, but cooler heads prevented a Donnybrook from developing.

When it was over, umpire Larry Napp ejected Power from the game. Manager Joe Gordon couldn't figure that out, so he announced he was playing the game under protest.

The game itself was no contest after the first inning when the Indians tallied five runs and chased starter and loser Jerry Casale before he could retire a batter.

Cleveland added two more in the second inning to make it 7-0. The Red Sox tried to get back into the game in the third when Jackie Jensen's bases-loaded home run made it 7-4.

Held's home run, following a single by Dick Brown, made the count 9-4. Brown hit a home run in the fifth, scoring behind Granny Hamner who had singled.

Giants Top Phils; Dodgers Nip Bucs

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies, beaten on three hits at Los Angeles Thursday night, were shut out on three hits by Mike McCormick Friday night as the Giants rolled to an 8-0 victory.

That kept San Francisco within two games of Milwaukee and two percentage points ahead of Los Angeles.

Milwaukee breezed with an 11-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Los Angeles puffed past Pittsburgh 6-5. Cincinnati beat St. Louis in their squabble over sixth place, 7-6 in 10 innings.

The Phillies, shut out on eight hits in three games at San Francisco this season, now have failed to score in 23 innings against McCormick (6-7). Friday night he gave up only singles—by Harry Anderson in the second, Dave Philley in the fourth and George Anderson in the fifth—and retired the last 13 in order. He walked none, struck out six.

Jackie Brandt hit a grand slam home run Friday night and Willie Mays hit a solo homer—only his second in a month. Jim Owens (4-6) lost it.

The Dodgers won five straight for the first time since leaving Brooklyn while matching home runs with the Pirates. Each had three. Charlie Neal's two - run blast in the seventh was the clincher. Duke Snider and John Roseboro hit the others for Los Angeles, while Harry Bright, Dick Stuart and Don Hoak homered for Pittsburgh. Johnny Podres (8 - 4) was the winner with relief help. Ron Kline (6-5) was the loser.

Warren Spahn (10-8) was backed by three - run innings by the Braves. He also hit his first home run of the season, the 22nd of his major league career—tops for NL pitchers. Wes Covington and Johnny Logan each had three hits and drove in five runs between them. John Buzhardt (4-3) was the loser.

The Cardinals chased Don Newcombe in a five-run eighth, but the Reds then scored four in their eighth for a tie and finally put it away on Johnny Temple's bases-loaded double against losing reliever Tom Cheney (0-1). Luis Arroyo (1-0) was the winner in relief after the Cards had smacked Newk and Brooks Lawrence for four home runs—two by Stan Musial, who was 3-for-4 and drove in three runs. Joe Cunningham and Ken Boyer rapped the other homers as the Cards again slipped to seventh.

Mother Of Coach Dies

Newk Chased, But Reds Win

The big right-hander, who had won seven in a row and gone the distance nine times, was knocked out of the box in the eighth inning Friday night by the St. Louis Cardinals, but the Redlegs came back to win the game 7-6 in 10 innings.

For seven innings, Newcombe looked like he was on his way to another victory, but Cardinal home runs in the eighth ended his hopes.

Going into the eighth, Big Newk had a 2-1 lead. Don Blasingame grounded out and then the sky fell in. Joe Cunningham homered into the rightfield seats, Bill White doubled, Ken Boyer homered and Newcombe departed.

Brooks Lawrence replaced him but before he got the side out he walked Gino Cimoli who scored a minute later on Stan Musiel's second home run of the night. Musial scored the Cards' first run in the seventh.

The Redlegs tied it in their half of the inning on walks by Gus Bell and Ed Bailey and singles by Jim Pendleton, Eddie Kasko, Johnny Temple and Whitey Lockman.

The Cards got the first two men on in the tenth but reliefer Luis Arroyo, who picked up his first decision with Cincinnati, worked his way out of trouble.

The Redlegs got their winning run when Temple doubled to the scoreboard, scoring Kasko who had been walked intentionally.

Men Ordered Back

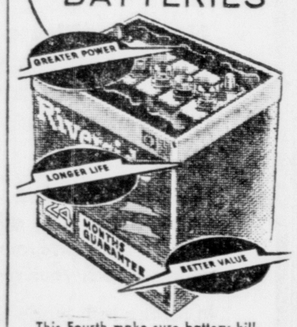

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Some 400 workers who struck at the General Tire and Rubber Co. were ordered back on the job Friday by United Rubber Workers Local 9. The wildcat strike shut down the truck tire department from Thursday midnight. The company said workers walked out in a dispute over production rates at the plant, which employs 2,200. The company refused to discuss the grievance until the workers returned to their jobs.

Telescopic Shots Of Sun Scheduled

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The scientists won't leave the ground, but they will aim and focus a telescopic camera which will be sent up into the stratosphere this summer for pictures of the sun.

Key men in the "stratoscope" project explained the plans at a news conference Friday. Four unmanned balloon flights will be made to an altitude of 80,000 feet, with the first set for early next month.

The complex 1,850-pound payload will include a television camera which will transmit an image of what is being photographed by a sequence camera making one film exposure each second.

Guided by their television monitors, the earthbound scientists will point the cameras by remote control at the part if the sun they want to study.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S LARGEST FLORAL ESTABLISHMENT

Boating Week Set Officially

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence has issued a proclamation setting aside the week beginning today as Safe Boating Week in East Liverpool and calling upon operators of pleasure craft to take advantage of free inspections offered by Flotilla 7 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The observance here is part of a nationwide program to call attention to the need to know and observe the basic rules of safe boating and to maintain pleasure craft in good mechanical condition.

"The growing popularity of boating as America's favorite family recreation makes it necessary for every boatman to use common sense and courtesy afloat to keep boating one of the safest of all outdoor activities," the mayor's proclamation said in part.

Flotilla 7 has 9 qualified inspectors. They will be available throughout the week to make free inspections of small craft at the wharf at the foot of Broadway. Members of other boat clubs should make arrangements in advance to take their boats for inspection to assure that an inspector will be on hand, the auxiliary said.

The observance will continue through Sunday, July 5.

Scouts On Trek; Girl Waits Trip

Three senior Boy Scouts of Troop 470 in Ohio View are participating in the 50-mile hike from Fort Ligonier to Fort Pitt over the Forbes trail for the Pittsburgh Bicentennial. David Brunton, David Muns and Bill Brucker left Thursday to join 850 other Allegheny Council Scouts participating in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. David Brunton of Ohio View drove the boys to Ft. Ligonier. Parents received tickets to attend the closing ceremonies at Gateway Plaza Sunday afternoon.

Gen. Matthew Ridgeway was to address the scouts at the end of the hike. Each boy will receive a neckerchief and a special patch and the event will fulfill requirements for the hiking merit badge.

An Ohio View Senior Girl Scout, Miss Rosemarie Caffro, will leave Tuesday morning for the Senior Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Miss Caffro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Caffro, is one of 24 Girl Scouts from Beaver County who applied by letter for the round-up and were tested on camping skills.

Low As $1.50 A Week

SIMMONS

Ordinary mattress is made with about 200-300 springs. Wired together, they sag together under your weight. When you push down on one, you push down on all. They're not free to push up and correctly support the shape of your body. This "sagging support" is bad for your back, your comfort, your rest.

Beautyrest mattress is made with over 800 separate springs. Not wired together, they can't sag together. Each is free to push up under you. Together they firmly support the weight and shape of your whole body. In the new Beautyrest springs have been power-packed to give 12% more firmness.

Action Due On Candidate Funds

From Our Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio —A bill to raise the ceilings on political campaign expenditures and tighten control over them is ready for action by the Ohio General Assembly.

The measure, a combination of five introduced in the session, has been recommended for passage by the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee. It is expected to get speedy treatment as the Legislature pushes for adjournment next month.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said in a special message early in the session that he hoped something would be done to correct abuses of the state's campaign expense laws and to replace the present limits with more "realistic" ones.

Still on 'Must' List

Last Thursday he told newsmen that a bill to do this is still on his list of "must" legislation before adjournment.

Four of the original measures contained in the new bill were introduced by Rep. R. Martin Galvin (D-Lucas), a DiSalle protege. The other was sponsored by a Democrat and two Republicans, including Rep. Joseph E. Lady (R-Hardin).

The new draft would allow candidates for state offices to spend the equivalent of the total salary for the term of each office. A gubernatorial candidate, for instance, could spend $100,000 on his campaign. At present he is limited to $5,000 and other state elected officials are limited to $4,000.

Candidates for district offices, such as state senators, or for offices voted upon by the citizens of a single county, such as county officials and state representatives, would be limited to the equivalent of one year's salary in the office.

$5,000 for Legislators

In the case of legislators, that would be $5,000. State senators now are limited to $1,000 plus $50 for each county or part of a county in their districts and representatives are limited to $750.

The ceilings on expenses by candidates for other offices, such as township or municipal posts, would vary according to the votes cast for governor at the previous election in the subdivision.

The bill sets the limit in primary campaigns at half that permitted for the general election.

In an effort to provide better control and enforcement of the ceilings, the bill would require that every candidate appoint a campaign manager and that all contributions to his campaign be made through the manager.

Would Provide Limits

In addition to the candidates' ceilings, the bill also provides limits on the spending that can be done by political parties.

For state and district party committees, this would be the equivalent of 5 cents per person in the state, based on the last federal census.

For county parties, including subdivisions of the county, the limit would be 10 cents per person in the county.

The parties and candidates both would be required to file statements of their expenses with the secretary of state or the county boards of elections, who would be responsible for detecting violations and reporting them to the attorney general or prosecutor.

Would Bar Candidates

Parties or party committees could be barred from participation in campaigns for from two to six years. Winning candidates would have to forfeit their nominations or offices, and would be barred from appointments to vacancies in the offices for a certain period.

The penalty for knowingly filing or conspiring to file a false expense statement would be a fine up to $5,000 a year's imprisonment or both.

A candidate who failed to appoint a campaign manager would be barred from being a candidate for one year. Any person or organization who contributed to a candidate's campaign other than through his manager would be subject to a $500 to $1,000 fine.

4 Known Dead When Two Jet Planes Crash

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—At least four men died as two jet planes crashed on opposite sides of San Antonio within 40 minutes Friday night.

Firemen, able to reach the flaming wreckage only on foot, sent back word that three perished in an RB66 — a reconnaissance bomber—which hit on top of a steep, rocky hill about 20 miles northwest of here.

A fourth man died in a T33 trainer which also burned after crashing one mile north of Lavernia, 26 miles southeast of San Antonio. The planes crashed about 40 miles apart.

A spokesman at Homestead Air Force Base near Miami, Fla., identified the T33 pilot as First Lt. Roy B. Owings Jr. He was returning the trainer to Homestead from Oakland, Calif. Owings is survived by his widow Linda and two children, Anna, 3, and Roy D. III. His permanent address was Great Falls, S.C.

Church Would Serve, But Enough Is Enough

BELVEDIERE, Ill. (AP) — What's the difference in dialing a wrong number when you want a pool hall or a dairy or a laundry?

St. John's Church—that's what. The Rev. Louis Weichbrodt, pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ, issued a notice to "Please check carefully which number you want before you dial."

Then he explained:

"St. John's Church is happy to talk with any who want to call. But we are unable to supply laundry service, dairy products or recreational facilities such as pool or billiards and cannot relay information to anyone who does."

The parsonage number is LI 4-3773, the same number formerly used by a pool hall, one digit away from the one for a laundry and two digits away from a dairy.

Thrill Show Canceled

LISBON — Rained out for the second consecutive night, the appearance of Stoney Roberts' "Thrill Show" Friday night at the Fairgrounds was canceled and Galen Greenisen said it may be booked later in the summer. He is a member of the Columbiana County Agriculture Society, sponsor.

Meets Nixon, Rockefeller

By RELMAN MORIN

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today visits what's been called the "greatest engineering project in the world" and meets two men who may contend for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The royal yacht Britannia, after sailing through the St. Lawrence Seaway in a symbolic opening with President Eisenhower aboard, headed for the Cornwall—Massena, N.Y., area where the St. Lawrence power project operates. Eisenhower returned to Washington Friday.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller arranged to welcome the Queen and Prince Philip today. Ceremonies greeting the royal couple are set for Eisenhower Lock; Moses-Saunders Dam, and at the international boundary.

Nixon and Rockefeller, both frequently mentioned as potential rivals for the Republican nomination next year, are slated to speak and Elizabeth is listed for a statement acknowledging the welcome.

However, the festivities today emphasize electric, not political, power.

The St. Lawrence power project, though not exclusively Canadian, is one of Canada's most spectacular industrial projects.

All the components have been installed, generating more than one billion kilowatts. When running at maximum, it is second only to the Grand Coulee on the Columbia River in Washington state among hydroelectric plants of the western world.

The St. Lawrence River, dropping 92 feet in 40 miles between Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Cornwall, Ont., provides a vast force to spin turbines in 32 generators—16 on each side of the international boundary.

Things Look Brighter For Alcatraz Inmates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dainty colors are being used to decorate Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay.

Other pastel colors are used in the prison hospital and shops. Walls of the prison yard are to be painted light yellow.

Court Suspends Driver Permits Of 2 Youths

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the permits of two drivers and the fining of three others.

The license of Kay A. Senior, 17, of Leetonia R. D. was suspended for 20 days and that of Arthur L. Grossern, 17, of Negley for 30 days. Both were charged with failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

Daniel Jenkins, 15, of Kensington R. D. 1 was fined $20 for reckless operation and lack of a driver's license.

Frank Shagnot, 17, of Salem R. D. 2 was fined $10 for operating a farm tractor on a highway without lights.

All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Instead of wasting your time looking at homes that do not suit your needs, the smart thing is to tell one of these Realtors what you want . . . and then let him find it for you.

A realtor is aware of all properties for sale. He knows these homes and what each has to offer.

'Twin Stamps' Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—A unique item for stamp collectors goes into general circulation today — the St. Lawrence Seaway twins issued simultaneously by the United States and Canada. The seaway stamps, which had their first day sales at Massena, N.Y., and Ottawa Friday while the seaway was being dedicated, mark the first time the United States has joined with another country in issuing an identical design.

State Seeks Bids On Highway Work

The State Highway Department said it will open bids July 21 for bituminous treatment of parts of two state routes in Columbiana County and painting of a bridge and guardrail as phases of Eastern Ohio projects involving seven counties.

Slated for surface treatment are 7.09 miles of Route 154 in Center and Elkrun Townships and 8.14 miles of Route 558 in Salem and Fairfield Townships. Oct. 1 completion is stipulated for the first and Sept. 15 for the second.

The guardrail painting concerns Route 62 in Columbiana County with other sections in Ashtabula, Mahoning, Portage, Stark, Summit and Trumbull Counties.

There is only one bridge painting job in this county, on Route 518 in Wayne Township, with 4 in Belmont, 4 in Carroll, 2 in Harrison, 3 in Holmes, 2 in Jefferson and 4 in Tuscarawas.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Educator Deplores Violence On TV

Speaking at a recent meeting in Los Angeles which celebrated the 10th anniversary of the National Association for Better Radio and Television, this writer deplored the large number of programs of violence on TV which so many young children are viewing. Then he had a good word about some desirable programs and their educational uses. To quote a few of his remarks: "Once a week, one-fourth, perhaps one-half of the children of our nation spend an hour or so in a church or synagogue, where they learn of kindness, sympathy, love, co-operation and the preciousness of a human life. On the same day, most of these same children view TV programs of hate, violence and murder for several hours — and for every day of the week, year after year.

"THESE PROGRAMS are usually more exciting and interesting than the children heard or saw at church, synagogue or Sunday school. The more shooting and slugging and stabbing in them, the more the children enjoy them. And the more interesting they are, the more impression they must make on a child.

"It's the children from 2 to 6 for whom TV is the longest and most frequent babysitter. The young child tends to believe that what he sees and hears is true, so he must suppose that life is very cheap, and that all he sees on TV is the normal way of life and death. He must grow insensitive to pain and suffering in other persons.

"YET MOST parents seem to suppose that the good to which their children are exposed will overbalance all the evil that they see and hear. On the sin of violence on TV, religious educators, clergymen and the religious press are almost wholly silent.

"Nevertheless, there are some very high quality programs on TV. The increasing number of educational TV stations, and the demonstrated possibilities of TV as a teaching medium in the classroom, are heartening.

Also encouraging are scattered reports of the resourcefulness of some teachers, parents and librarians in utilizing the interest aroused in children by some commercial TV programs, to motivate reading of related books and provide enjoyment of good music and enrichment of knowledge.

All these, fortnately, have a good press in newspapers, general magazines and educational books and periodicals."

Canton Strike Ends

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A three-day strike protesting the provisional discharge of an employee at a Republic Steel Corp. plant here ended Friday night. A United Steelworkers Union spokesman said the 700 workers had started back to their jobs at the south division plant. There were no negotiations between the union and the company.

Lightning Starts Fire

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Firemen said a bolt of lightning apparently started a blaze that gutted the inside of a 75-foot grain elevator in nearby Utica Friday night. Utica Asst. Fire Chief Don Myers estimated damage at $100,000. No one was hurt.

Telescopic Shots Of Sun Scheduled

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The scientists won't leave the ground, but they will aim and focus a telescopic camera which will be sent up into the stratosphere this summer for pictures of the sun.

Key men in the "stratoscope" project explained the plans at a news conference Friday. Four unmanned balloon flights will be made to an altitude of 80,000 feet, with the first set for early next month.

The complex 1,850-pound payload will include a television camera which will transmit an image of what is being photographed by a sequence camera making one film exposure each second.

Guided by their television monitors, the earthbound scientists will point the cameras by remote control at the part if the sun they want to study.

Mrs. Klumpp Will Undergo More Grilling

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Edythe Klumpp, who has spent almost two full court days on the witness stand faces another hour or so of questioning when her first-degree murder trial resumes Monday. She is charged with shoot and beating Mrs. Louise Bergen to death last Oct. 30.

"I'm completely exhausted," she said Friday after sitting through sweltering heat in a four-hour cross-examination by Hamilton County Asst. Prosecutor Harry C. Schoettmer. One of two recesses was called when Mrs. Klumpp told Judge Frank M. Gusweiler she was ill.

The day's session was marked by biting exchanges between Mrs. Klumpp and Schoettmer. Through it all, Mrs. Klumpp stuck to her story that Mrs. Bergen was shot accidentally in a struggle for a gun in the Klumpp car.

Mrs. Klumpp is accused of killing Mrs. Bergen and then burning the body the next day after keeping it in the trunk of her car overnight. The state claims she wanted to marry Mrs. Bergen's husband, William. She had been living with him for several months.

Mrs. Klumpp, a divorced mother of four, is 41. Mrs. Bergen was 32 and Bergen is 30.

Mrs. Klumpp said Mrs. Bergen called her Oct. 30 and arranged the meeting which ended in death. She said when they stopped on a secluded street in Caldwell Park here to talk over the marital situation she got out of the car and into the back seat to remove an obstruction from under the front seat.

She contends that when she arose, Mrs. Bergen was pointing the gun at her and the struggle and shooting ensued.

During cross-examination, Mrs. Klumpp denied repeatedly that she shot Mrs. Bergen or clubbed her with the gun as the state claims.

"You bashed that head not once, not twice but many times didn't you?" asked Schoettmer.

"I never had that gun in my hands at any time," Mrs. Klumpp replied.

She said she had grasped Mrs. Bergen's arm and had forced her down on the front seat. She said the gun was pushed up under Mrs. Bergen's chin when it was discharged.

DiSalle Issues Pamphlet

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Despite his daily meetings with the Statehouse press corps and his frequent contacts with legislators, publicity-conscious Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has had a recurring feeling that his budget program is not getting across to the people who elected him.

The trouble he believes, is that the tax increases are not being "sold" on the right terms: What the taxes will buy instead of what they cost.

So he put out during the last week a pamphlet designed to show the taxpayers how little they put into the state's coffers in return for what they take out.

THE BOOK'S "HERO" is a loaf of bread. The "plot" holds that the price of a single loaf of bread for every Ohioan every day is what it costs to finance the state government and the services the people demand of it.

SEVEN CENTS a day for education. This comes to slightly more than the $25.41 a year per capita that is required by education. It is 46 per cent of the general revenue budget. It goes for aid to public schools, state universities and blind, deaf and vocational schools.

TWO CENTS a day for mental hygiene. That is 16 per cent of the budget and it pays for treatment for the mentally ill, rehabilitation for juvenile delinquents, and care and correction for prison inmates.

THREE CENTS a day for welfare. The state spends 22 per cent of its budget to help the blind, aged, poor, disabled and dependent children.

THESE THREE items alone account for 84 per cent of the DiSalle budget for the coming bienniam. So, the governor has said repeatedly, any substantial cuts in spending will have to involve those programs. Which, he asks his critics, do they want to trim?

Other slices of the loaf of bread include:

FIVE CENTS a week for government. Only 5 per cent of the budget is spent on operating the Legislature, the offices of elected officials, the Supreme Court and the public employes retirement systems.

FORTY-SEVEN CENTS a year for health. Less than 1 per cent of Ohio's budget goes for the care of tuberculosis patients and support of local health districts.

ONE CENT a day for state parks and other natural resources services, highway safety, the National Guard and veterans' bonuses.

ADD TO THESE $1.56 a year for services to agriculture, labor and business and the total comes to about 15 cents a day or the price of a small loaf of bread, the pamphlet says.

Its conclusion:

"Can you afford not to afford 15 cents a day?"

RULE VIOLATED

He has said one of his pet peeves is the distribution of unsigned "propaganda." When the pamphlet was handed around, newsmen noticed it bore no clues as to its source.

The reason was apparently a slip-up by the people who put the booklet together, and the governor reportedly was pretty irked by the "goof."

GOP HAS ITS FUN

THE REPUBLICANS in the House had some fun over the boo-boo next day when the pamphlet appeared on their desks.

Rep. John Ashbrook (R-Licking) cited a policy adopted some time ago by Speaker James A. Lantz that unsigned matter should be cleared through the clerk's office before being distributed to the members.

"The clerk assures the chair it was cleared through his office," Lantz replied.

"But there is no indication where it comes from," Ashbrook persisted. "I would like to know."

Pastor's Wife Speaks At Father-Son Event

Mrs. D. Park Chapman of East Liverpool, wife of the supply pastor, was guest speaker for the father - son banquet given Thursday night in the social rooms of the Wellsville First Christian Church.

Nancy Leith gave a reading and Mrs. Wilda Shafer, soprano, sang a solo. Mrs. Mary Donnelly, pianist, played dinner music. Rev. Chapman offered the invocation and Kenneth Winters gave the closing prayer. Mrs. Ruth Nicolaus was toastmaster.

Some 75 attended the dinner served by the Christian Women's Fellowship with Mrs. Hilda Crawford as chairman. Roses and other garden flowers decorated the tables.

Official Has Red Face And Unpaid Motel Bill

He explained later in a letter to the motel that he had driven his car up to the front office when he met a friend and got into a political discussion. When it was over, he said, he got into his car and drove home.

He asked for a bill and apologized.

Salineville

Business was conducted by Mrs. Mildred Tennant, president, and devotions by Mrs. Brown. Games were under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Hill.

Mrs. Vilma Hart of E. Main St. entertained the NALA Club Thursday night.

Mrs. Huberta Cottage and sons Michael and John, of Tiltonsville visited here Thursday.

Grocery Store Thief Is Saved By The Law

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — O. V. Norris, 55, picked George E. Emerson, 27, from a police line-up as the man who robbed a grocery store where Norris worked.

Then Norris said to an officer, "I'll give you $50 to let me take one punch at him."

Man Injured At Race Track

A man injured in a fall while working at the Waterford Park Race Track and a area man hurt in a fall at home were admitted to City Hospital Friday where five others were treated for various injuries.

Joseph Kent, 18, son of Howard Kent, 721 Pennsylvania Ave., suffered a possible fracture of the nose when he fell against a car door yesterday evening.

Jonathon Carpenter, 8, son of Mrs. Edith Carpenter of Pennsylvania Ave., cut his finger on a tin can last night.

Roger Parker, 18, son of Donald Parker of Beaver Ave., Midland, received lacerations of the finger and the back of his ear when he fell through a window last night.

James Means, 22, of 800 Broadway, Wellsville, suffered lacerations of the thumb when he caught it between two dies at the Metsch Refractories, where he is a presser.

Screeching Fire Siren Brings People, Money

BERLIN, Wis. (AP) — The local volunteer fire department, wise in the ways of fire buffs, conducted its annual fund drive with a minimum of effort this year.

When a substantial proportion of the 5,000 population converged on the station to find out where the fire was, firemen passed the hat. Collected: $600.

The United Nations has recommended a worldwide minimum age of 14 for both sexes to marry.

Sponsored By Golden Star

19th Tri-State Picnic Set July 15 At Rock Springs

The 19th annual Tri-State Community Picnic, sponsored by the Golden Star Dairy Co., has been set for July 15 at Rock Springs Park, Chester, John Eiferd, president, announced today.

The outdoor event, which last year attracted more than 13,000 tri-state residents to the amusement center, originated in 1938. Except for a four-year period during World War II, it has been conducted annually since.

One feature which always has proved popular is the baby contest, again scheduled as a mid-afternoon event. Last year, a record 476 youngsters, all under 3 years of age, from 25 communities competed for cash prizes awarded by the dairy firm.

Official entry forms for the contest will be distributed soon door-to-door by dairy employes. They also will be available at neighborhood food stores and soda fountains and in the dairy's forthcoming newspaper advertisements.

The official entry forms must be used by contestants to qualify for the "early bird registration" award, according to the firm's announcement. Infants up to three years of age will be eligible to compete in the baby contest, with July 12, midnight, the deadline for entries to be filed.

Plans are now under way for all features of the annual affair, with details to be announced later by Elmer F. Eiferd, Golden Star picnic chairman. Highlights will include free refreshments, souvenirs for the youngsters, fare reductions on amusements and rides, a fireworks display and an evening of free dancing.

Couples 'Giggle' Way Through Married Life

CHATHAM, N. J. (AP) — Giggling girls and cackling hens always come to no good end, says the old almanac. How about giggling couples?

Five married couples had such a hilarious time at a dinner party recently that they formed a "giggle club" and will twitter and chuckle over dinner once every two months.

time when home hunting is not necessary. There is an easier way to find the home you desire. Consult a Realtor first.

Instead of wasting your time looking at homes that do not suit your needs, the smart thing is to tell one of these Realtors what you want . . . and then let him find it for you.

A realtor is aware of all properties for sale. He knows these homes and what each has to offer.

Mrs. Klumpp Will Undergo More Grilling

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Edythe Klumpp, who has spent almost two full court days on the witness stand faces another hour or so of questioning when her first-degree murder trial resumes Monday. She is charged with shoot and beating Mrs. Louise Bergen to death last Oct. 30.

"I'm completely exhausted," she said Friday after sitting through sweltering heat in a four-hour cross-examination by Hamilton County Asst. Prosecutor Harry C. Schoettmer. One of two recesses was called when Mrs. Klumpp told Judge Frank M. Gusweiler she was ill.

The day's session was marked by biting exchanges between Mrs. Klumpp and Schoettmer. Through it all, Mrs. Klumpp stuck to her story that Mrs. Bergen was shot accidentally in a struggle for a gun in the Klumpp car.

Mrs. Klumpp is accused of killing Mrs. Bergen and then burning the body the next day after keeping it in the trunk of her car overnight. The state claims she wanted to marry Mrs. Bergen's husband, William. She had been living with him for several months.

Mrs. Klumpp, a divorced mother of four, is 41. Mrs. Bergen was 32 and Bergen is 30.

Mrs. Klumpp said Mrs. Bergen called her Oct. 30 and arranged the meeting which ended in death. She said when they stopped on a secluded street in Caldwell Park here to talk over the marital situation she got out of the car and into the back seat to remove an obstruction from under the front seat.

She contends that when she arose, Mrs. Bergen was pointing the gun at her and the struggle and shooting ensued.

During cross-examination, Mrs. Klumpp denied repeatedly that she shot Mrs. Bergen or clubbed her with the gun as the state claims.

"You bashed that head not once, not twice but many times didn't you?" asked Schoettmer.

"I never had that gun in my hands at any time," Mrs. Klumpp replied.

She said she had grasped Mrs. Bergen's arm and had forced her down on the front seat. She said the gun was pushed up under Mrs. Bergen's chin when it was discharged.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Despite his daily meetings with the Statehouse press corps and his frequent contacts with legislators, publicity-conscious Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has had a recurring feeling that his budget program is not getting across to the people who elected him.

The trouble he believes, is that the tax increases are not being "sold" on the right terms: What the taxes will buy instead of what they cost.

So he put out during the last week a pamphlet designed to show the taxpayers how little they put into the state's coffers in return for what they take out.

THE BOOK'S "HERO" is a loaf of bread. The "plot" holds that the price of a single loaf of bread for every Ohioan every day is what it costs to finance the state government and the services the people demand of it.

The pamphlet slices the loaf this way:

SEVEN CENTS a day for education. This comes to slightly more than the $25.41 a year per capita that is required by education. It is 46 per cent of the general revenue budget. It goes for aid to public schools, state universities and blind, deaf and vocational schools.

TWO CENTS a day for mental hygiene. That is 16 per cent of the budget and it pays for treatment for the mentally ill, rehabilitation for juvenile delinquents, and care and correction for prison inmates.

THESE THREE items alone account for 84 per cent of the DiSalle budget for the coming bienniam. So, the governor has said repeatedly, any substantial cuts in spending will have to involve those programs. Which, he asks his critics, do they want to trim?

Other slices of the loaf of bread include:

FIVE CENTS a week for government. Only 5 per cent of the budget is spent on operating the Legislature, the offices of elected officials, the Supreme Court and the public employes retirement systems.

FORTY-SEVEN CENTS a year for health. Less than 1 per cent of Ohio's budget goes for the care of tuberculosis patients and support of local health districts.

ONE CENT a day for state parks and other natural resources services, highway safety, the National Guard and veterans' bonuses.

ADD TO THESE $1.56 a year for services to agriculture, labor and business and the total comes to about 15 cents a day or the price of a small loaf of bread, the pamphlet says.

Its conclusion:

RULE VIOLATED

He has said one of his pet peeves is the distribution of unsigned "propaganda." When the pamphlet was handed around, newsmen noticed it bore no clues as to its source.

The reason was apparently a slip-up by the people who put the booklet together, and the governor reportedly was pretty irked by the "goof."

GOP HAS ITS FUN

THE REPUBLICANS in the House had some fun over the booboo next day when the pamphlet appeared on their desks.

Rep. John Ashbrook (R-Licking) cited a policy adopted some time ago by Speaker James A. Lantz that unsigned matter should be cleared through the clerk's office before being distributed to the members.

"I wonder if this booklet went through channels?" Ashbrook asked Lantz.

"The clerk assures the chair it was cleared through his office," Lantz replied.

"But there is no indication where it comes from," Ashbrook persisted. "I would like to know."

"The clerk informs the chair it came from the governor's office," the Speaker replied.

Screeching Fire Siren Brings People, Money

BERLIN, Wis. (AP) — The local volunteer fire department, wise in the ways of fire buffs, conducted its annual fund drive with a minimum of effort this year.

Instead of beating a path from door to door in the community, the fire laddies just turned on the siren and let it wail.

When a substantial proportion of the 5,000 population converged on the station to find out where the fire was, firemen passed the hat. Collected: $600.

19th Tri-State Picnic Set July 15 At Rock Springs

The 19th annual Tri-State Community Picnic, sponsored by the Golden Star Dairy Co., has been set for July 15 at Rock Springs Park, Chester, John Eiferd, president, announced today.

The outdoor event, which last year attracted more than 13,000 tri-state residents to the amusement center, originated in 1938. Except for a four-year period during World War II, it has been conducted annually since.

One feature which always has proved popular is the baby contest, again scheduled as a mid-afternoon event. Last year, a record 476 youngsters, all under 3 years of age, from 25 communities competed for cash prizes awarded by the dairy firm.

Official entry forms for the contest will be distributed soon door-to-door by dairy employes. They also will be available at neighborhood food stores and soda fountains and in the dairy's forthcoming newspaper advertisements.

The official entry forms must be used by contestants to qualify for the "early bird registration" award, according to the firm's announcement. Infants up to three years of age will be eligible to compete in the baby contest, with July 12, midnight, the deadline for entries to be filed.

Plans are now under way for all features of the annual affair, with details to be announced later by Elmer F. Eiferd, Golden Star picnic chairman. Highlights will include free refreshments, souvenirs for the youngsters, fare reductions on amusements and rides, a fireworks display and an evening of free dancing.
